
Routledge Handbook on the Politics of Global Health

Edited by Richard Parker and Jonathan García

Contents

List of figures	x
List of tables	xi
Contributing authors	xii
Introduction: Routledge Handbook on the Politics of Global Health Jonathan García and Richard Parker	1
PART I
Critical perspectives on global health	15
1 Fault-lines in global health: intersecting inequalities, human rights, and the SDGs Gita Sen	17
2 The right to health under capitalism: threats, confrontations, and possibilities César Abadía-Barrero and Adriana Ardila-Sierra	24
3 South African AIDS activism: lessons for high-impact global health advocacy Mandisa Mbali	33
4 Neglect in global health João Nunes	44
5 The politics of funding research in global health partnerships Johanna T. Crane, Irene Andia Biraro, Tamer M. Fowad, Yap Boum II, and David R. Bangsberg	53
6 From global health to planetary and micro global health: theorising global health's present remodeling and scaling João Biehl and Yi-Ching Ong	63

PART II
Globalisation, neoliberalism, and health systems	79
7 Boundaries of global health politics in the ‘fourth world’: determinants of political will for hepatitis C treatment Jonathan García, Devynne Nelons, Tayler Tobey, and Katherine Marsi	81
8 Sabotaged bodies, sacrifice, and lost youth under punitive neoliberalism Luis L. M. Aguiar	87
9 ‘Willingness to pay’: how health care user fees spread around the world, 1965–2015 Aaron Shakow and Salmaan Keshavjee	98
10 The politics of health systems strengthening Katerini T. Storeng, Ruth J. Prince, and Arima Mishra	114
11 National and subnational politics of health systems’ origins and change Radhika Gore	122
PART III
The changing shape of global health governance	133
12 Reforming the World Health Organization Yanzhong Huang and Gabriella Meltzer	135
13 Health governance: a neglected and an uncharted path of governance in Africa Oyewale Tomori	150
14 Learning from research on experiences of health diplomacy in Africa Rene Loewenson and Bente Molenaar-Neufeld	159
15 China’s role in global health governance Jeremy Youde	172
16 Aiming for synergies between global health security and global health equity, with help from a Framework Convention on Global Health Gorik Ooms and Albrecht Jahn	181
17 Health and global governance: the case of development cooperation on Håkan Thörn	188

PART IVDevelopment assistance and the politics of global health 197

- 18 Global health challenges in the era of the Sustainable Development Goals 199
Nana Poku and Jim Whitman
- 19 Disrupting global health: the Gates Foundation and the vaccine business 207
Jacob Levich
- 20 National influence in global health governance: the case of the United Kingdom's Department for International Development 219
Daniel E. Esser
- 21 The crossroads of development assistance and national development agendas in the countries of South Eastern Europe 229
Neda Milevska Kostova, Elizabeth J. King, and Kristefer Stojanovski
- 22 On the life history of HIV interventions in India: Avahan, organic intellectuals, and the fate of community mobilisation 239
Robert Lorway, Shamshad Khan, Monika Doshi, Sundar Sundararaman, and Sushena-Reza Paul

PART VScale-up, scale-down, and the sustainability of global health programmes 253

- 23 Scaling-up and losing the signal: the global HIV and AIDS epidemic 255
Alan Whiteside
- 24 Brazil and the changing meanings of 'universal access' to antiretrovirals during the early twenty-first century 266
Marcos Cueto
- 25 'Ending AIDS' or scaling down the HIV response? 276
Nora Kenworthy, Matthew Thomann, and Richard Parker
- 26 Enabling positive change: learning from progress and setback in HIV and sexual and reproductive health 285
Purnima Mane and Peter Aggleton
- 27 The global politics of polio eradication 293
William S. Schulz and Heidi J. Larson

PART VI
Intellectual property rights, trade relations, and global health		305
28	Politics of access to medicines and human rights Anand Grover	307
29	Trading away global health? Unravelling the intellectual property, trade, and investment nexus and the impact on the right to health Karen van Rompaey	312
30	Will the amendment to the TRIPS Agreement enhance access to medicines? Carlos Correa	321
31	Taking on the challenge of implementing public health safeguards on the ground: the experience of Argentina and Brazil from a civil society perspective Marcela Fogaça Vieira and Lorena Di Giano	332
32	The politics of malnutrition: achieving policy coherence in a globalised world Anne Marie Thow and Biraj Patnaik	346
PART VII
Humanitarian emergencies and global health politics		357
33	Forced migration and health: problems and responses Eduardo Faerstein and Anete Trajman	359
34	Geopolitics, political violence, and global health: ethical obligations for professionals acting within wars and conflict settings Cindy Sousa	368
35	Sovereignty, development, and health: humanitarianism and health care provision in the Gaza Strip Ron Smith	374
36	Drone operators, terrorists, and the biopolitics of public health in the War on Terror Neil Krishan Aggarwal	382

PART VIIIHuman rights, social justice, and global health*391

- 37 The invisible reality of 'chintar rog' (a life of chronic worry): the illness of poverty in Dhaka's urban slum settlements 393
Sabina Faiz Rashid
- 38 Salmon, fire, and the environmental and political contexts of tribal health 401
Kari Marie Norgaard and Ron Reed
- 39 Research and sex work: how neo-colonialism and biomedicalisation impact struggles for sex workers' rights 411
Laura Murray, Elsa Oliveira, and Debolina Dutta
- 40 In pursuit of genomic justice: sovereignty, inclusion, and innovation in Mexico 421
Emily E. Vasquez and Vivette García-Deister
- Index* 433