Gianni Vaggi

Development

The Re-Balancing of Economic Powers
CONTENTS

1 In the Beginning, There Was Economic Growth 1
  1.1 Harrod: When the Economic Cycle Becomes a Growth Theory 2
  1.2 'Trickle Down' Growth and Convergence. The Neoclassical Theory of Economic Growth 5
  1.3 Off the Main Track: Dualistic Economies and Technical Change 10
  1.4 The Structures of Capitalist Economies and the International Division of Labour 15
  1.5 Market Efficiency and Rational Agents 20
  References 22

2 Towards a Broader Definition of Development 25
  2.1 Human Development and the Millennium Development Goals 26
  2.2 Poverty 33
  2.3 Beyond GDP 36
  2.4 From the Millennium Goals to the Sustainable Ones 37
  2.5 Changing Views on International Cooperation 40
  2.6 Bridging Empowerment and Ownership 44
  References 46
3 The Economy Strikes Back; Convergence, Divergence and Imbalances
3.1 Rising Asia 52
3.2 International Financial Markets 55
3.3 Increasing Inequality 61
3.4 Secular Stagnation: And Three Paradoxes About Savings 65
3.5 Imbalances 68
3.6 Discouragement 71
References 72

4 The Founding Fathers and the Long-Run Visions 75
4.1 The Age of Merchant Capital: Trade and Power 76
4.2 Food, Surplus and Reproduction 78
4.3 Enlightenment; Checks and Balances 83
4.4 Adam Smith and the Productivity of Labour 86
4.5 Ricardo, Free Trade and the Falling Profit Rate 91
4.6 The Capitalist Mode of Production and the Crises 95
4.7 Conclusions 99
References 100

5 Sustainable Reproduction, on Use and Exchange Values 103
5.1 On Reproduction Cycles 104
5.2 Achieving Use Values Through Exchange Values 109
5.3 When Structures Should Change 112
5.4 Neo-mercantilism and Its Features 117
5.5 Financial Mercantilism 119
References 123

6 Making Global Partnership Work 127
6.1 'To the Lighthouse' 128
6.2 Last But Not Least: Sustainable Development Goal 17 129
6.3 Re-balancing: Reducing Distances 131
6.4 Sweet and Sour Trade 132
6.5 Financing for Development 134
6.6 The Road to Dignity 140
6.7 Conclusions 141
References 143
References 147

Index 165