Deglobalization: Ideas for a New World Economy

WALDEN BELLO
Contents

Acknowledgements and Dedication ix

1 Introduction: The Multiple Crises of Global Capitalism

   From triumph to crisis /2  Multilateralism in disarray /2  The crisis of the neoliberal order /4
   The corporation under question /6  Cracks in military hegemony /8  The degeneration of liberal democracy /9
   The spectre of global deflation /13
   The rise of the movement /16  Contradictory trends after September 11 /17  'Imperial overstretch' /22
   Liberal democracy loses /25  Porto Alegre and the future /27

2 Marginalizing the South in the International System 32

   The rise of UNCTAD /34  The Bretton Woods twins versus the UN Development system /35
   The southern challenge in the 1970s /38  Right-wing reaction and the demonization of the south /40
   Resubordinating the south /42  The World Trade Organization: third pillar of the system /51
   The Group of Seven: an international directorate? /55

3 Sidestepping Democracy at the Multilateral Agencies 59

   The World Bank /59  The International Monetary Fund /61  The World Trade Organization /63

4 The Crisis of Legitimacy 66

   The IMF's Stalingrad /66  The past catches up /68
   Meltzer and the World Bank /69  The WTO on the road to Seattle /71
5 The Vicissitudes of Reform, 1998–2002
Reforming the global financial architecture /77
From structural adjustment to poverty reduction? /80
Non-democratic decision-making affirmed /83
Decision-making at the WTO: From Seattle to Doha /84

6 Proposals for Global Governance Reform: A Critical Analysis

7 The Alternative: Deglobalization
Deconstruction /108 Deglobalizing in a pluralist world /112

Selected Readings
Selected Organizations Monitoring Multilateral Organizations and Global Governance Issues
Index