Informal Economies and Social Transformation in Romania
Contents

Foreword
Philippe Adair and Rainer Neef iii

1. Romania from the early to late 1990s
1a. Economic and social developments in Romania since 1990
Constantin Ciupagea, Simona Ilie and Rainer Neef 1
1b. How families managed in the 1990s
Rainer Neef 21
1c. What is the informal economy in Romania?
Philippe Adair and Rainer Neef 31

2. Informal consumption and labour supply patterns of households and individuals in 1996
Philippe Adair, Belaïd Ghermani and Livia Paraschiva 37

3. Household incomes between formal and informal economies: the poor and the rich
Simona Ilie 59

4. Patterns of development in the 1990s
Rainer Neef 81

5. Households' economic strategies between state, market and the informal economies
Manuela Sofia Stănculescu 99

6. Sectors of informal activities and the formal economy
6a. Economic conditions for households’ informal activities in the different sectors
Rainer Neef 119
6b. Relationship between formal and informal sectors of the Romanian economy
Constantin Ciupagea 133
7. On the actual importance of the informal economies in Romania
7a. Contribution of the informal activities to the Romanian economy
   Constantin Ciupagea 145
7b. Functions and effects of informal activities in Romania
   Rainer Neef and Constantin Ciupagea 155

8. Small scale informal activities in Eastern Europe: Comparisons
8a. Working conditions of informal workers
   Manuela Sofia Stănculescu 169
8b. Informal small scale production in Poland and Romania
   Gérard Duchène 185

9. Appendix
9a. Table: socio-economic data on Romania 1989-2002
   Compiled by Constantin Ciupagea 201
9b. Methodological appendix
   9b.1 Measuring poverty: an ongoing process of various methodologies
       Simona Ilie 203
   9b.2. Chapter 2 - Methodology
       Philippe Adair 206
   9b.3 Chapters 1b, 3, and 5 – Methodological notes
       Manuela Sofia Stănculescu 214
   9b.4. Chapters 4 and 6a — Methods in collecting and analysing the qualitative data
       Rainer Neef and Manuela Sofia Stănculescu 218
   9b.5. Chapter 5 – The regression models used
       Manuela Sofia Stănculescu 222
   9b.6. Chapter 7a – The econometric results for the equation estimating the level of informal economy's share in GDP
       Constantin Ciupagea 224
9c. References 226
9d. Information on authors 234