

Human Resources for Health

Overcoming the crisis

Joint Learning Initiative

Contents

Page
number

---

vii	Preface
x	Abbreviations
1	Executive Summary
<hr/>
13	Chapter 1 The Power of the Health Worker
14	Today's health crisis
16	Fresh opportunities
18	Health workforce crisis
21	Why health workers are so important
26	Workers as a global health trust
29	Five clusters of countries
<hr/>
41	Chapter 2 Communities at the Frontlines
42	Workers at the frontlines
49	Workers in community systems
53	Mobilizing health workers
<hr/>
65	Chapter 3 Country Leadership
66	Engaging leaders and stakeholders
68	Planning human investments
70	Managing for performance
84	Developing enabling policies
88	Learning for improvement
<hr/>
101	Chapter 4 Global Responsibilities
102	Migration: Fatal flows
112	Knowledge: An under-tapped resource
117	Financing: Investing wisely
<hr/>
133	Chapter 5 Putting Workers First
134	Strengthening sustainable health systems
137	Mobilizing to combat health emergencies
138	Building the knowledge base
139	Completing an unfinished agenda: Action and learning
<hr/>
143	Appendix 1 Glossary
149	Appendix 2 Quantitative Information
181	Appendix 3 Joint Learning Initiative

---

Boxes

- 19 1.1 HIV/AIDS: Triple threat to health workers
- 33 1.2 Norms or standards?
- 34 1.3 “Shortages”— giving a sense of scale
- 44 2.1 The invisible workforce
- 51 2.2 Recruiting locally is the most important first step
- 53 2.3 SEWA’s community financing
- 54 2.4 Smallpox eradication in India: Tensions and harmony with the health system
- 55 2.5 Ethiopia’s military—mobilizing against HIV/AIDS
- 56 2.6 Mobilizing workers to eradicate polio
- 58 2.7 Primary health care workers in Costa Rica
- 69 3.1 Workers on strike
- 76 3.2 Ghosts and absentee workers
- 82 3.3 Networks for learning and health
- 83 3.4 Professional associations as partners
- 86 3.5 Iran’s revolution in health
- 88 3.6 Human resources in transitional economies
- 107 4.1 Codes of practice on international recruitment
- 108 4.2 The Global Commission on International Migration
- 110 4.3 Cuba’s international health workforce
- 111 4.4 Health worker migration: A global phenomenon
- 115 4.5 Toolkits for appraising health workforces
- 116 4.6 The PAHO Observatory of Human Resources in Health
- 120 4.7 Tanzanian health workforce: Impact of stabilization, adjustment, and reform
- 121 4.8 Ghana: Initiatives in human resources for health
- 123 4.9 Worker-friendly donor policies
- 135 5.1 Key recommendations
- 137 5.2 High stakes, high leverage
- 140 5.3 Action & Learning Initiative

---

Figures

- 3 1 Human resources and health clusters
- 5 2 Managing for performance
- 7 3 Investing in national capacity for strategic planning and management
- 10 4 Decade for human resources for health
- 15 1.1 Life expectancy—advancing and slipping
- 22 1.2 The glue of the health system
- 24 1.3 Health service coverage and worker density
- 25 1.4 Higher income—more health workers
- 26 1.5 More health workers—fewer deaths

Page
number

---

27	1.6	Stocks and flows
29	1.7	Worker density by region
30	1.8	Human resources and health clusters
32	1.9	Five clusters
42	2.1	Human resource functions for health
43	2.2	Family workers at the base of the pyramid—professionals at the top
48	2.3	Sample survey of national workforce patterns
50	2.4	Achieving balance in accountability
66	3.1	Key dimensions of country strategies
71	3.2	Managing for performance
78	3.3	Workers want more than money
80	3.4	Huge regional disparities in medical schools and graduates
81	3.5	Investment pipeline of learning
102	4.1	Foreign-trained doctors can make up a third of the total number of doctors
103	4.2	New registrants from sub-Saharan Africa on the UK nursing register
104	4.3	South Africa: Main channels for out and in-migration
119	4.4	Investing in national capacity for strategic planning and management
183	A3.1	JLI working groups
197	A3.2	JLI meetings and consultations

---

Tables

46	2.1	Community health workers in Asia
118	4.1	Recent trends in development assistance for health
157	A2.1	Global distribution of health personnel
163	A2.2	Global distribution of medical schools and nursing schools
169	A2.3	Selected health indicators
174	A2.4	Health workforce financing