Brand Culture

Edited by

Jonathan E. Schroeder and Miriam Salzer-Mörling

with Søren Askegaard, John M. T. Balmer, Anders Bengtsson, Sven Bergvall, Janet L. Borgerson, Arianna Brioschi, Stephen Brown, Fabian Faurholt Csaba, Andrea Davies, Richard Elliott, Martin Escudero Magnusson, Mary Jo Hatch, Benoît Hèilbrunn, Ulla Johansson, Jean-Noël Kapferer, Frank Magnusson, Majken Schultz, Lisbeth Svengren Holm and Henrik Uggla

FRANK CASS
LONDON AND NEW YORK
Contents

List of illustrations vii
Notes on contributors ix
Acknowledgements xv

Introduction: the cultural codes of branding 1
Jonathan E. Schroeder and Miriam Salzer-Mörling

Part I CORPORATE PERSPECTIVES ON BRAND CULTURE 13

1 A cultural perspective on corporate branding: the case of LEGO Group 15
   Majken Schultz and Mary Jo Hatch

2 Corporate brand cultures and communities 34
   John M. T. Balmer

3 Ambi-brand culture: on a wing and a swear with Ryanair 50
   Stephen Brown

4 The two business cultures of luxury brands 67
   Jean-Noël Kapferer

5 Managing leader and partner brands: the brand association base 77
   Henrik Uggla

Part II CLARIFYING BRAND CONCEPTS 89

6 Brands as a global ideoscape 91
   Søren Askegaard
CONTENTS

7 Brave new brands: cultural branding between Utopia and A-topia 103
Benoît Heilbrunn

8 Rethinking identity in brand management 118
Fabian Faurholt Csaba and Anders Bengtsson

9 Brand management and design management: a nice couple or false friends? 136
Ulla Johansson and Lisbeth Svengren Holm

Part III CONSUMING BRAND CULTURE 153

10 Symbolic brands and authenticity of identity performance 155
Richard Elliott and Andrea Davies

11 Branding ethics: negotiating Benetton’s identity and image 171
Janet L. Borgerson, Martin Escudero Magnusson and Frank Magnusson

12 Brand ecosystems: multilevel brand interaction 186
Sven Bergvall

13 Selling dreams: the role of advertising in shaping luxury brand meaning 198
Arianna Brioschi

Index of companies 211
General index 214