TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction
1

- Purpose of this Book
- Why Read this Book?
- New Approaches to Workforce Development and Succession Planning
- Who Should Read this Book
- A Glimpse at the Road Ahead

PART I: The Design and Deployment of Strategic Change
7

1: Getting Started
9

- What Are Action-Learning Teams?
- Stages of the Action-Learning Team Process
- When Is an Action-Learning Team Appropriate?
- The Formation of an Action-Learning Team
- Characteristics of an Action-Learning Team Leader
- Creating Effective Action-Learning Teams

2: Inquiry - Discovering Gaps that Impede Effectiveness
21

- Purpose
- The Role of Assumptions, Context, and Culture
- The Belief Model
- Recognizing Patterns
- Leadership Assessment
- The PIP Process
- Key Questions to Ask
- Structuring the PIP Process
- Symptoms
- Functions
- Strategy
- Culture and Values
- Leadership During Inquiry
- Leadership Style
- Leadership Characteristics to Embrace
- Tendencies to Avoid in This Phase
3: Design - Innovating the Roadmap Forward

Purpose ✶ Action-Learning and Aerospace Industrial Design ✶ Observation ✶ Brainstorming ✶ Be Focused ✶ Keep It Light ✶ Use Spatial Memory ✶ Get Physical ✶ Create Pilot When Possible ✶ Key Questions to Explore in this Phase ✶ Tendencies to Avoid in This Phase ✶ Leadership Style ✶ Characteristics to Embrace ✶ Characteristics to Avoid ✶

4: Deployment - Transformation in Action

Purpose ✶ The Process ✶ Communication ✶ Resistance to Change ✶ Taking Action ✶ The Phases of Deployment ✶ Induction ✶ Disillusionment ✶ Breakthrough ✶ Integration ✶ Key Questions to Explore in this Phase ✶ Tendencies to Avoid in this Phase ✶ Leadership Style ✶ Create a Safe Space; Accept Ambiguity ✶ Characteristics to Embrace ✶

5: Integration - Aligning Core Systems

Purpose ✶ How to Perform a Successful Integration ✶ Commitment of Leadership ✶ Human Resources Systems ✶ Training ✶ Reluctant Managers ✶ Why Living the Values Matters ✶ Aligning Organizational Structure ✶ Culture ✶ Leadership Characteristics Important at This Phase ✶ Things to Avoid in This Phase ✶
Part II: Action-Learning Teams: An Essential Component of Organizational Strategy

- Action-Learning Teams and the Informal Organization
- The Evolution from CoP to ALTs
- Action-Learning Teams as an Arm of Strategy
- Action-Learning Teams and the Practice of Innovation

7: The New Strategic Imperative

- Speed, Adaptability and Flexibility
- New Strategies, New Structures
- Action-Learning and the Wireless Revolution
- Implications for the Road Ahead
- Structures that Mirror the Complexity of Their Environment

8: Leading Effective Action-Learning Teams

- Leading from a Different Place
- Organizational Structure, Culture, and Leadership
- Characteristics of an Action-Learning Team Leader
- Builds on the Wisdom and Insight of the Team
- Models the Change They Seek in the Organization
- High Level of Trust and Respect
- By and For the Team
- leverages Ambiguity to Drive Innovation
- Focuses Group through Clarity of Intent
- Adapts Leadership Style to the Situation
- Exercises Soft-Focus and Pattern Recognition
- Promotes Culture of Freedom and Accountability

9: Action-Learning Teams and Knowledge Worker Development

- The Rise of the Knowledge Worker
- Developing Knowledge Workers
- Why Training Is Not Enough
Knowledge, Basic Assumptions, and Awareness
From Training to Learning in Action
Lessons Learned from the Corporate University

10: The Action Context as Learning Environment
The Role of Context in Learning
Double-Loop Learning
How Theory and Action Inform One Another In Practice
The Role of Explicit Theory
The Role of Implicit Theory
Organizations as Complex Adaptive Systems
Complexity and Spiral Dynamics

PART III: Supplemental Materials

11: The Transformation of the U.S. Army Through Action-Learning Teams

The Emergence of the After Action Review (AAR)
Leaders Who Learn from Their Subordinates
Achieving Synergy Through Cross-Functional Alignment
From After Action Review to Learning in Action
Action-Learning and Knowledge Management in the Army
Understanding the Leader’s Intent
The Emergence of the “VUCA” World
Applying Lessons Learned from the AAR
About Bob Ivany

12: Executive Mastery - Cyberspace and the New Frontiers of Executive Education

A Case Study in Online Action-Learning
It Began as Face-to-Face Coaching
Evolution to Online Coaching, Education, and Organizational Development
Structuring the Intervention, Connecting With the Team
The Online System

The 4-Plex Model of Networked Learning

References

About the Authors

Bruce LaRue  Paul Childs  Kerry Larson