Contents

Notes on contributors

1 The effect of interjurisdictional competition on regulation: theory and overview
PETER BERNHOLZ AND ROLAND VAUBEL

2 Politico-economic causes of labour regulation in the United States: rent seeking, alliances, raising rivals' costs (even lowering one's own?) and interjurisdictional competition
JOHN T. ADDISON

Comment: Interjurisdictional competition and labour market regulation
DENNIS C. MUeller

Comment: Foreign policy and regulation
GORDON TULLOCK

3 Interjurisdictional competition in regulation: evidence for Canada at the provincial level
FRANCOIS VAILLANCOURT

Comment: How can a country like Canada be inhospitable to an influence of yardstick competition on regulation?
PIERRE SALMON

4 Labour market regulation in the EU-15: causes and consequences
W. STANLEY SIEBERT

Comment: Labour market regulation: interindividual and interjurisdictional competition
JEAN-MICHEL JOSSELIN
Contents

Comment: Interjurisdictional collusion and the strategy of raising rivals' costs in EU labour market regulation 148
ROLAND VAUBEL

5 Political competition and economic regulation in German history
Was there regulatory competition in early modern Germany? 152
OLIVER VOLCKART

Regulatory competition and regulatory harmonization in the nineteenth century: the example of food protection and labour protection 175
GEROLD AMBROSIUS

Comment: The strategy of raising rivals' costs by federal regulation under Bismarck 194
ROLAND VAUBEL

6 Regulatory competition and federalism in Switzerland: diffusion by horizontal and vertical interaction 200
LARS P. FELD

Comment: Yardstick competition among cantonal fiscal rules 241
CHRISTOPH A. SCHALTEGGER

7 The drivers of deregulation in the era of globalization 245
FRIEDRICH HEINEMANN

Comment: The uneasy trend to greater economic freedom 267
DAVID HENDERSON

Index 276