Changing Governance and Public Policy in East Asia

Edited by Ka Ho Mok and Ray Forrest
Contents

List of figures and tables viii
List of contributors xi
Foreword xvii
Preface xix

Introduction: the search for good governance in Asia 1
KA HO MOK AND RAY FORREST

PART I
Changing policy paradigms 23

1 Interpreting East Asian social policy development: paradigm shifts or policy 'steadiness'? 25
ANTHONY B. L. CHEUNG

2 Redefining development in China: towards a new policy paradigm for the new century? 49
KINGLUN NGOK

3 Empowering the public and the policy science of democracy from a post-modernist perspective 67
WEIQING GUO

4 Japan's changing domestic governance and its impact on foreign policy 81
ITO GO
vi  Contents

PART II
Changing policy instruments and regulatory regimes 97

5  Competition and control in public hospital reforms
   in Hong Kong and Singapore 99
   M. RAMESH

6  Pro-competition policy tools and state capacity: the corporatization of public universities in Hong Kong and Singapore and the implications for Asia 117
   KA HO MOK

7  Comparative welfare policy instruments in East
   Asia: embedding trust in policy 140
   YEUN WEN KU

8  Regulatory reform and private sector development in China: a case study of downsizing administrative licences 159
   BILL CHOU

PART III
The changing role of the private sector in public policy 183

9  Accommodating business interests in China and Hong Kong: two systems – one way out 185
   RAY YEP

10 From developmental regimes to post-developmental regimes: business and pension reforms in Japan,
    South Korea and Taiwan 206
    YOUNG JUN CHOI

11 Private education policy at a crossroads: comparing
    Hong Kong and Singapore 228
    MICHAEL H. LEE

12 Struggling among economic efficiency, social equality and social stability: housing monetarization reform in China 253
    YAPENG ZHU
PART IV

The challenge for urban governance 285

13 Managing the chaotic city—social cohesion: new forms of urban governance and the challenge for East Asia 287
    RAY FORREST

14 The governance of urban renaissance in Tokyo: post-urbanization and enhanced competitiveness 303
    YOSUKE HIRAYAMA

15 Urbanization, low-income housing and urban governance in South Korea 326
    SEONG KYU HA

Index 347