

839 004 761

LINKAGES BETWEEN TRADE POLICY AND ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

OPTIONS FOR THE PROMOTION OF ENVIRONMENTAL STANDARDS ON PROCESSES AND PRODUCTION METHODS

SUSANNE DRÖGE

Contents

List of Figures	iii
List of Tables	iv
List of Abbreviations	v
1 Introduction	1
2 Trade Restrictions in MEAs and World Trade Rules	7
2.1 Introduction	7
2.2 Doha Mandate, Cancún Meeting, the July Package, and beyond	10
2.3 Trade restrictions in MEAs	13
2.3.1 The reasons for trade restrictions	13
2.3.2 MEAs with trade restrictions	15
2.4 Membership to trade-related MEAs and to the WTO	18
2.5 Conflict and reconciliation	24
2.5.1 Relevant GATT/WTO obligations	24
2.5.2 Potential for reconciliation	27
2.6 Conclusions	32
2.7 Appendix	34
3 Global Environmental Policy and Trade: The Role of Issue Linkage	45
3.1 Introduction	45
3.2 Modelling of issue linkage in games with two players	48
3.2.1 Linking two environmental issues	49
3.2.2 Issue linkage in dynamic games	56
3.2.2.1 Repeating the separate games	56
3.2.2.2 Repeating the interconnected game	58
3.2.3 Trade and environment linkage with two countries and two issues	61
3.2.3.1 Traditional trade theory with perfect competition	62
3.2.3.2 Trade policy under imperfect competition	64
3.2.3.3 Other types of games: suasion	67
3.2.4 Summary	70
3.3 Issue linkage and coalition formation	71
3.3.1 Cooperation in games with many players	71
3.3.2 Issue linkage in a stage game coalition model	76
3.3.3 Linking environmental policy to R&D cooperation	78

3.3.4	Linking environmental policy to trade policy	83
3.3.5	The Montreal Protocol: blueprint for successful issue linkage?	87
3.4	Conclusions	89
4	Ecological Labels, Production Methods and Trade	92
4.1	Introduction	92
4.2	Effects and effectiveness of ecological labels	95
4.2.1	Demand side effects	95
4.2.2	Supply side effects	98
4.2.3	Ecological labelling in open economies	100
4.2.4	Eco-labels, trade flows and international regulation	102
4.3	Potential conflicts with WTO law	105
4.4	Examples for the labelling of homogeneous goods	110
4.5	Labelling, North-South trade, and horizontal product differentiation	114
4.5.1	The model	115
4.5.2	Labelling	117
4.5.3	Introducing a label in the North	119
4.5.4	Labelling in both countries with mutual recognition	123
4.5.5	Harmonisation of Labels	126
4.5.5.1	Negotiation scenario with bounded labels	129
4.5.5.2	Negotiation scenario with a social planner	130
4.5.6	Discussion of results	133
4.6	Conclusions	135
4.7	Appendix	139
5	Summary and Conclusions	142
	References	146