

Water Resources
and Inter-Riparian Relations in the Nile Basin

The Search for an Integrative Discourse

Okbazghi Yohannes

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK PRESS

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Chapter One. Toward A Provisional Understanding	1
Framing the Challenges	1
The Political Challenge	5
The Demographic Challenge	7
The Economic Challenge	12
The Hydrological and Ecological Challenge	16
Urbanization, Pollution, and the Challenge of Clean Water	22
The Governance Challenge	25
The Neoliberalist Challenge	28
Conclusion	31
Chapter Two. Egypt: Gift of the Nile	33
The Elusive Quest for Food Security and the Modernization Imperatives	34
After Modernization	46
The Puzzle	53
Chapter Three. The Sudan: A Hydrographic Bridge?	57
The Beginnings	57
An Arab “Breadbasket”?	59
The Politics of Internal Governance	65
The Sudd and the Jonglei Canal: Twin Crimes Against Nature and Society	71
The Puzzle	75

Chapter Four. Ethiopia: Land of the “Blue Gold”	79
The Hydrological Context	79
The Elusive Quest for Food Security and the Modernization Imperatives	82
The Politics of Internal Governance	88
The Eritrean Dimension of the Nile Waters	93
The Puzzle	96
Chapter Five. The Middle Nile “Squatters”: Kenya, Tanzania, and Uganda	101
The Historical Context	101
The Elusive Quest for Food Security and the Modernization Imperatives	103
Aquatic Resources and the Search for More Food Security	126
The Puzzle	140
Chapter Six. The Uppermost Riparian States: Rwanda, Burundi, and the Democratic Republic of Congo	145
Problematizing Watershed Integrity	145
The Ethnography of Hydrology and Food Security	147
The Puzzle	160
Chapter Seven. Thinking about the Future	163
Toward an Integrative Epistemology and Regional Authenticity	164
Toward a Nile Family of Nations	178
Toward Holistic Economies	181
Toward a Politics of Collective Self-Reliance	188
Conclusion	199
Notes	201
Bibliography	219
Index	241
Other books in the SUNY series in Global Politics	???