CONTENTS

List of tables x
Preface and acknowledgements xii
Note on terminology xvii
List of abbreviations xviii
Map of Federal India xix

1 Introduction 1

Contextualizing Punjab 3
Punjab: rich but not developed 4
The main approaches to the study of centre–state financial relations 7
The main approaches to the study of centre–state relations in agriculture 8
The main approaches to the study of centre–state relations in industry 9
Methodology: qualitative and quantitative dimensions in centre–state relations 10
Applying the RCD approach to the study of centre–state financial relations 12
Applying the RCD approach to the study of centre–state relations in agriculture 13
Applying the RCD approach to the study of centre–state relations in industry 13
Sources and use of data 14
Structure of the book 16
CONTENTS

2 The geography and the political economy of Punjab: an historical overview of Punjab–centre relations

- The birth of Sikhism and its early guru period (1469–1708) 20
- The rise of the Sikhs to political power (1708–1799) 25
- The Sikh Empire (1799–1849) 27
- Punjab under British rule (1849–1947) 28
- The struggle for a Punjabi-speaking state (1947–1966) 32
- Post-1991 developments 52
- Summary and conclusions 53

3 Federalism, nationalism and India’s development strategy: an historical overview and analytical framework

- Introduction 56
- Centre–province relations in ancient and medieval India 56
- Centre–province relations during the British rule 57
- Centre–state relations since 1950 62
- Centralization, Indian nationalism and the planned development strategy 67
- Conclusions 68

4 Federal financial relations in India and their implications for centre–Punjab financial relations

- Introduction 70
- The centrist bias of the Indian constitution in the distribution of powers between the centre and the states 71
- The trend towards centralization in the evolution of centre–state financial relations in post-independence India 73
- Consequences for centre–Punjab financial relations 95
- Conclusions 102

5 Centre–state relations in agriculture and their implications for Punjab agriculture

- Introduction 104
- Constitutional provisions regarding centre–state relations in agriculture 104
- The centre and Punjab agriculture 112
CONTENTS

The economic structure of Punjab and its inherent weakness 119
Conclusions 126

6 Centre–state relations in industry and their implications for the pattern of industrial development in Punjab 127

Introduction 127
The constitutional provisions regarding centre–state relations in industry 129
The evolution of industrial development in Punjab 138
Conclusions 162

7 Summary and conclusions 165

Punjab, Sikhs and the centre: an historical view 167
The ideology of Indian nationalism, centre–state relations in the constitutional framework, and the strategy of development planning 168
The political economy of Indian nationalism in the shaping of Punjab’s development pattern 169

Appendix 174

Notes 175
Bibliography 195
Index 214