Hui Wang

The forefront of urban China

New Special Development Zones and their impact on the spatial transformation of Chinese cities – A case study of Xi’an

GEOGRAPHISCHES INSTITUT DER UNIVERSITÄT ZU KÖLN
2007
0 INTRODUCTION

1 CHINA'S NEW SPECIAL DEVELOPMENT ZONES

1.1 NSDZs: A brief definition

1.2 Reasons for the establishment of NSDZs in China

1.2.1 The risk of reform

1.2.2 Ongoing globalization

1.2.3 The rise of the “New Economy”

1.2.4 The multifold objectives of NSDZs

1.3 The development of NSDZs

1.3.1 The earliest experiment with SEZs (1979-1984)

1.3.2 Expansion along the coastal belt (1984-1989)

1.3.3 A period of oscillation (1989-1992)

1.3.4 A surge of “NSDZ fever” (1992-1997)

1.3.5 The spread towards Western China (1997 - present)

1.4 Notable features of NSDZs

1.4.1 The urban nature of NSDZs

1.4.2 The “special zones in special ways” concept

1.4.3 The prevalence of NSDZs

1.4.4 The development “miracles” of NSDZs

2 NSDZs AS AN ISSUE IN URBAN STUDIES

2.1 An overview of publications on NSDZs

2.1.1 Evolutionary topics of Chinese scholars’ works

2.1.2 The main foci of overseas researches

2.1.3 Studies on the “NSDZ - urban transformation” issue

2.2 Aims of this research

2.2.1 Theme and perspective

2.2.2 Main questions and structure

2.2.3 The case study city and its NSDZs

2.2.4 Data and methods

3 THE MECHANISMS OF AN NSDZ AND THEIR RELATIONSHIP TO THE CITY

3.1 Functional structure of an NSDZ

3.1.1 Production & multiplication subsystem

3.1.2 Accommodating & supporting subsystem

3.1.3 Governing & promoting subsystem

3.1.4 Co-operation of the three subsystems
3.2 The context of NSDZ growth
3.2.1 Industrial base and technological source
3.2.2 Market maturity and economic situation
3.2.3 Institutional arrangements and political circumstances
3.2.4 Physical conditions and natural environment
3.2.5 Space and place in context

3.3 The relationship between an NSDZ and the city
3.3.1 The significance of the “mother-city” for an NSDZ
3.3.2 The impact of an NSDZ on the mother-city
3.3.3 Influences of NSDZs own attributes

4 THE SIGNIFICANCE OF NSDZs FOR URBAN SPACE-PLACE MAKING
4.1 The creation of a new type of urban spatial entity
4.1.1 Clearly defined but dynamic and cross-district territory
4.1.2 Super-autonomous and trans-level administration
4.1.3 Extended missions of local governance

4.2 The formation of a new approach in spatial development

4.3 Restructuring the regime of space-place makers

4.4 The rise of the development ideology of “entrepreneurialism”
4.4.1 The connotations of the ideology of “entrepreneurialism”
4.4.2 The stimulants to the rise of “entrepreneurialism” in China
4.4.3 The role of NSDZs in the rise of “entrepreneurialism”

4.5 The practice of new strategies in space-place making
4.5.1 The “working-living complex” land-use pattern
4.5.2 The built environment and the landscape

5 THE RECONFIGURATION OF CBDs IN THE CONTEXT OF NSDZs
5.1 The background to the development of the CBD
5.1.1 The evolutive CBD system
5.1.2 The background to CBD development in China

5.2 Spatio-temporal dynamics of businesses in Xi’an

5.3 The HTDZ as the emerging CBD of the city
5.3.1 Indications for the HTDZ as the emerging CBD
5.3.2 The reasons for the emergence of NSDZs as urban CBDs

5.4 The evolving multi-nucleate pattern of the CBD system

6 THE INTENSIFICATION OF URBAN SPATIAL POLARIZATION THROUGH NSDZs
6.1 The impact of NSDZs as “special policy districts”
6.1.1 Uneven economic growth in NSDZs and non-NSDZs
6.1.2 Contrasts in physical development in NSDZs and non-NSDZs
6.2 The impact of NSDZs as “new economic spaces” .......................................................... 100
  6.2.1 NSDZs as “new economic spaces” ......................................................................... 100
  6.2.2 Spatial polarization with the formation of “new economic spaces” ...................... 103
  6.2.3 Old industrial areas: New Economy “ghettos”? ...................................................... 108

6.3 The impact of NSDZs’ housing development strategy .................................................. 109
  6.3.1 Residents, neighborhood and community in NSDZs ............................................ 109
  6.3.2 Residential differentiation and segregation ............................................................ 112

7 NSDZ-LED URBAN EXPANSION AND SUBURBANIZATION ........................................... 115
  7.1 NSDZ-led urban spatial expansion ............................................................................. 115
    7.1.1 The urban fringe/outskirts location of NSDZs ..................................................... 115
    7.1.2 The “one city, multiple zones” situation ............................................................. 116
    7.1.3 The fast spatial growth of major NSDZs ............................................................. 117
    7.1.4 The considerable contribution of NSDZs to urban spatial growth ..................... 117

  7.2 The NSDZ-led spread of urban activities ................................................................. 119
    7.2.1 Spatial spread of urban socio-economic activities ............................................. 119
    7.2.2 Is this an ongoing suburbanization? .................................................................. 121

  7.3 Prospects for future development ............................................................................. 124
    7.3.1 The second-round development of Xi’an HTDZ ................................................. 124
    7.3.2 The second-round development of Xi’an ETDZ ............................................... 125
    7.3.3 The second-round development of Xi’an Qujiang New Area ............................. 126
    7.3.4 A foreseeable future of the city ..................................................................... 126

8 SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION ......................................................................................... 129

9 ABSTRACT ....................................................................................................................... 135

10 ZUSAMMENFASSUNG .................................................................................................. 137

References ......................................................................................................................... 141