Privatizing China
Contents

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction: Privatizing China: Powers of the Self,
Socialism from Afar
Aihwa Ong and Li Zhang 1

PART I. POWERS OF PROPERTY 21
Emerging Class Practices 23

1. Private Homes, Distinct Lifestyles: Performing a New Middle Class
Li Zhang 23

2. Property Rights and Homeowner Activism in New Neighborhoods
Benjamin L. Read 41

Accumulating Land and Money 57

3. Socialist Land Masters: The Territorial Politics of Accumulation
You-tien Hsing 57

4. Tax Tensions: Struggles over Income and Revenue
Bei Li and Steven M. Sheffrin 71
Negotiating Neoliberal Values 87
5. "Reorganized Moralism": The Politics of Transnational Labor Codes
   Pun Ngai 87
6. Neoliberalism and Hmong/Miao Transnational Media Ventures
   Louisa Schein 103

PART II. POWERS OF THE SELF 121
Taking Care of One's Health 123
7. Consuming Medicine and Biotechnology in China
   Nancy N. Chen 123
   Matthew Kohrman 133
9. Wild Consumption: Relocating Responsibilities in the Time of SARS
   Mei Zhan 151

Managing the Professional Self 168
    Lisa M. Hoffman 168
11. Self-fashioning Shanghainese: Dancing across Spheres of Value
    Aihwa Ong 182

Search for the Self in New Publics 197
12. Living Buddhas, Netizens, and the Price of Religious Freedom
    Dan Smyer Yu 197
13. Privatizing Control: Internet Cafés in China
    Zhou Yongming 214
Afterword: Thinking Outside the Leninist Corporate Box
    Ralph A. Litzinger 230

Notes 237
Contributors 271
Index 275