Jingji Xue

The History of the Introduction of Western Economic Ideas into China, 1850–1950

Paul B. Trescott

The Chinese University Press
Contents

Preface vii
List of Plates xi
List of Tables xix
Abbreviations xxiii

1 Introduction 1
2 Preliminaries: Missionaries and Westernizing Chinese 23
3 Sun Yat-sen 45
4 Graduate Study of Economics by Chinese in the United States 61
5 Chinese Who Studied Economics in Britain and Continental Europe before 1950 79
6 Chinese Economics Graduate Students Overseas: Careers, Backgrounds, Research Areas 101
7 Economics in China’s Christian Colleges: Overview 121
8 Economics at Yanjing University (Peking) 147
9 John Lossing Buck and Agricultural Economics at Nanjing University 167
10 Economics in Chinese Universities: Overview 185
11 Economics at Nankai University 209
12 Beida: Western Economics at Peking University 223
13 Qinghua College and Qinghua University 243
14 The Role of Western Economics in Economic Research in China 1900–1950: Techniques, Ideas, and Personnel 259
15 Epilogue and Overview 291

Notes 317
References 371
Glossary 407
Index 419