The Hong Kong
Special Administrative Region
in Its First Decade

Edited by
Joseph Y. S. Cheng

City University of Hong Kong Press
Table of Contents

Preface ............................................................................................................. xv

Acronyms, Abbreviations and Conventions Used in This Volume ................................................................ xvii

Introduction:

Hong Kong Since Its Return to China: A Lost Decade?
Joseph Y. S. CHENG ................................................................................. 1

- The Economy: Are We Doing Better? ................................................. 1
- Economic Integration with China ..................................................... 17
- Governance, Democracy and Legitimacy ..................................... 24
- The Pro-democracy Movement ....................................................... 35
- Conclusion ......................................................................................... 47

1. Democratic Development in Hong Kong:
    A Decade of Lost Opportunities
Ngok MA .................................................................................................... 49

- Introduction ......................................................................................... 49
- Theoretical Review ........................................................................... 50
- First Phase: Fragmentation, Loss of Direction, and Weimar Syndrome ...................................................................... 53
- Second Phase: Re-mobilization and Rebirth .................................... 59
- Third Phase: Lost Opportunities and the New Impasse ......................................................................... 65
- By Way of Conclusion:
  Glass Half-Empty or Half-Full? ......................................................... 72

2. Citizens’ Evaluations of Legitimacy
in Post-colonial Hong Kong:
Results of a Longitudinal Study
Timothy Ka-ying WONG and Shirley Po-san WAN ............................ 75

- Introduction ......................................................................................... 75
- Legitimacy and Political Support ..................................................... 78
Satisfaction with the SAR Government’s Performance in Various Policy Areas .......................................................... 83
Satisfaction with the Performance of the Related Political Authorities ................................................................. 89
Trust in the SAR Government ............................................................................................................................... 91
Evaluation of the Practice of “One Country, Two Systems” ...................................................................................... 93
Major Factors Affecting the SAR’s Legitimacy ....................................................................................................... 96
Conclusion ............................................................................................................................................................... 104

3. To What Extent Have Members of the Functional Constituencies Performed the “Balancing Role” in Hong Kong?

SING Ming ............................................................................................................................................................... 109

Introduction ............................................................................................................................................................ 109
Study of Four Policy Domains .............................................................................................................................. 113
Overall Quantitative Assessment of the “Balancing Role” of the FC by Examination of Voting Records (1998–2004) ........................................................................................................................................ 124
Conclusion of Study ................................................................................................................................................ 131

4. The Mainlandization and Recolonization of Hong Kong: A Triumph of Convergence over Divergence with Mainland China

Sonny LO ............................................................................................................................................................... 179

The End of the Tung Chee-hwa Era ...................................................................................................................... 180
Convergence and the Hong Kong Case .................................................................................................................. 182
Convergence and the Policy of Mainlandization ................................................................................................. 185
Success and Failure of Tung Chee-hwa from the Convergence Perspective ...................................................... 188
Mainlandization of the Hong Kong Polity ............................................................................................................ 200
The Legal Profession: Resistance to Mainlandization of the Legal System ...................................................... 207
Social Divergence and Economic Convergence with China .............................................................................. 211
Donald Tsang’s and Beijing’s Policies of Recolonizing the Polity and Mainlandizing the Economy ............... 219
Conclusion and Implications for the Theory of Convergence .................................................. 223

5. From Tung Chee-hwa to Donald Tsang: China’s Grudging Self-Correction and Policy
Re-orientation towards Hong Kong in the Lost Decade
HUNG Ching-tin .................................................................................................................. 233

Introduction ..................................................................................................................... 233
The Current and Future Relevancy of Positive Non-Interventionism .................................. 234
Post-97 Hong Kong: The Lost Decade .............................................................................. 249
Current and Future Relevancy of PNI ........................................................................... 255

6. Hong Kong in between China and the Great Powers: The External Relations and International Status of Hong Kong after the Chinese Resumption of Sovereignty
TING Wai ......................................................................................................................... 261

Introduction ..................................................................................................................... 261
China–Hong Kong Relations and Changing Perceptions of the West .............................................................................. 264
External Relations of Hong Kong as Reflected in Foreign Direct Investments and Trade .... 271
Significance of Hong Kong as Regional Headquarters ....................................................... 281
Western Triad and the Future of Hong Kong ...................................................................... 289
Conclusion ......................................................................................................................... 301

7. Hong Kong in the Eyes of the International Community
REN Yue .......................................................................................................................... 305

Introduction ..................................................................................................................... 305
Non-Sovereign International Actors: New Active Forces in International Arena .......... 306
Central People’s Government and SAR Government Relations ........................................ 309
Modes of SAR Participation in International Organizations .............................................. 314
SAR and International Conventions .................................................................................. 317
External Relations of HKSAR .......................................................... 321
Perspectives of HKSAR
  as an Active Non-Sovereign International Actor ...................... 324

8. The Economy
Lok Sang HO .................................................................................... 327

  Introduction .................................................................................. 327
  To Understand Hong Kong,
    One Must Understand the Market ............................................ 330
  Common Myths about the Hong Kong Economy ...................... 333
  Financialization and Globalization ............................................ 336
  Market Rents, Economic Rents, and the Conflict between Allocation and Distribution Goals ............................ 338
  Financial Centre, Pollution, and the World City ...................... 341
  Competition Policy ....................................................................... 345
  Speculation, Herd Behaviour, and the Incursion into the Stock Market .................................. 348
  Does High Cost Erode Hong Kong’s
    Competitiveness and Marginalize
    the Hong Kong Economy? ....................................................... 352
  China’s Accession to WTO,
    RMB Reform and US Dollar Movements .................................. 356
  Conclusions .................................................................................. 360

9. Hong Kong People’s
Economic Attitudes 1997–2007
Michael E. DEGOLYER ....................................................................... 363

10. Mainland China–Hong Kong
Economic Relations
Baozhi QU ......................................................................................... 383

  Mainland China–Hong Kong Trade Relations ............................ 383
  Strengthening Investment Ties between Mainland China and Hong Kong ............................... 387
  Increasing Economic Integration:
    The Impact of the CEPA ........................................................... 393
The Post-1997 Socio-Economic-Political Development 513
Expectation Towards Future and Emigration 522
Discussion and Conclusion 530

Raymond NGAN and Mark Kin-yin LI 535
Aggravating Poverty and Rise in Income Inequality 536
The Extent of Poverty in the Post 1997 Era in Hong Kong 539
The Commission on Poverty: How Effective or Not Effective? 554
Policy Recommendations and Alternative Solutions 559

15. The HKSAR’s Welfare Policy and Services for the Elderly
Alex Yui-huen KWAN 565
Introduction 565
Demographic Size 566
Welfare Expenditure 568
General Services for the Elderly 571
Community Support Services for the Elderly 572
Residential Care Services for the Elderly 574
Housing for the Elderly with Special Needs 579
Health Care for the Elderly 580
The Unfilled Elderly Service Gap 580
Conclusion 586

16. Outmoded Planning in the Face of New Politics
Mee Kam NG 591
Introduction 591
The Politics of Planning 592
The Politics of Planning in Hong Kong 598
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Authors</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>17.</td>
<td>The Environment After 1997</td>
<td>HO Kin-chung</td>
<td>631</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>The State of the Environment</td>
<td></td>
<td>632</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>New Environmental Policies,</td>
<td></td>
<td>636</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Legislation and Programmes</td>
<td></td>
<td>636</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Heading Towards Sustainable Development?</td>
<td></td>
<td>654</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Regional Environmental Cooperation</td>
<td></td>
<td>656</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>and Environmental Governance</td>
<td></td>
<td>656</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Environmental Awareness, Environmental</td>
<td></td>
<td>659</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Education and Public Participation</td>
<td></td>
<td>660</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td></td>
<td>667</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>A “Romantic” Beginning</td>
<td></td>
<td>668</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Why Reform?</td>
<td></td>
<td>672</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>New Excitement</td>
<td></td>
<td>676</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Lessons to be Learned</td>
<td></td>
<td>681</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Conclusion</td>
<td></td>
<td>696</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td></td>
<td>699</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Housing Policy Before 1997</td>
<td></td>
<td>700</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Housing Policy 1997–2006</td>
<td></td>
<td>702</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Achievements and Failures</td>
<td></td>
<td>714</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Issues and Prospects</td>
<td></td>
<td>721</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Conclusion</td>
<td></td>
<td>726</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
23. The Catholic Role in Hong Kong SAR’s Governance: Past and Present
Beatrice LEUNG, Camoes TAM and Marcus CHU

Catholic Role in the Early Establishment of Hong Kong (1841–1945) ................. 857
Catholic Role in Hong Kong After World War II ......................... 859
The Bridging Endeavour: Complicated Hong Kong Church-State Relations ...... 865
Catholics’ Relations with the HKSAR Government .................. 867
The Limit of Political Development: Internal Political Control of Hong Kong by the Basic Law ........................................... 870
Christianity and the Chinese Cultural Tradition of Hong Kong ............... 874
Traditional Elites and Christian Education ......................... 875
The Church’s School and the Pursuit of Secular Justice .................. 877
Catholic Involvement and the Church Recruits Help from the Laity .......... 880
Conclusion .................................................. 882

Authors ........................................................................ 883
Index ........................................................................ 895