CONTENTS

Acknowledgments xi
Introduction: A European Life 1

Chapter 1: The Color-Coded Refrigerator 9
Measuring Leisure Time 11
By the Numbers: A Glut of Leisure Time 16
The Time-Crunch Economy 19

Chapter 2: Economic Progress and Leisure Ruin 27
North American Work—A Long History of Long Hours 28
A Decade without Leisure 36
The North American Aversion to Leisure 39
The "Yuppie Kvetch" 44
Escaping from the Neo-Leisure World 49

Chapter 3: Time Off for Good Behavior 53
The Time Crunch: A Matter of Demographics 54
The Age–Leisure Equation 55
Generation: The Defining Role 59
Pre-Boomers: Setting the Stage
Enter the Baby Boomers: A Special Case
  Work Ethic or Workaholic?
  Boomers at Play
  Boomers and their Children: The Echo
Aging into Leisure
Making Leisure Cool

Chapter 4: In Praise of Slacking
The Slacker Generation(s)
  Generation X (1965–1976)
    Unlucky and Cynical
    From Divorce to Family First
  Generation Y (1977–1999)
    Educated and Diverse
    Tech Savvy and Then Some
    Super-Parented or Spoiled?
The Slackers Go to Work
  Gen X at Work
  Gen Y at Work
Opting Out of Work
Crafting a Leisure Economy

Chapter 5: The New Haves and Have-Nots
Lofty Values, Gigantic Debts
  What Cost Education?
  What Cost Credit?
  Saving: A Lost Art?
  Reading the Trends
  Magic Bullets for Gen Y
    Grandparents
    The Housing Market
Pleasing No One: The Boomer Haves and Have-Nots
Confronting Leisure Envy
Contents

Chapter 6: Welcome Back, Fido

- The Boomers: Easing into the Leisure Economy 135
- The Labor Shortage: Myth or Reality? 136
- Should I Stay or Should I Go? 137
- The Health Factor 139
- Courting the Post-Boom Generations 145
- The Alberta Problem 155
- The Workplace of the Future 157

Chapter 7: Time to Change the World

- A Mishmash of Volunteer Activity 161
- Volunteers in the Leisure Economy 163
- Boomers: To Volunteer or Not 165
- Gen X: To Volunteer or Not 165
- Gen Y: To Volunteer or Not 171
- The Philanthropy Boom 173
- The Economic Implications of “Free” Time 176

Chapter 8: Mapping the Leisure Economy

- The Time-Crunch Economy Map 183
- The Big Question—the Boomers 185
- Where Will Boomers Retire? 187
- The Lure of Smaller Communities 191
- College Towns for Culture and Learning 193
- From Vacation Property to Home 194
- Bright Lights, Big City 195
- Going Global 196
- Likely Losers 197
- The Young and Leisured, the Young and Time-Crunched 197
- New Communities, New Challenges 199

Chapter 9: Spending Time and Spending Money

- The Leisure Economy and Consumer Spending 203
- Picking the Leisure Economy Winners and Losers 205
  - Entertainment 210