PART 1 Introduction to Economics 1

CHAPTER 1 The Central Idea 2

Scarcity and Choice for Individuals 4

- Consumer Decisions 4
 - Opportunity Cost* 4 □ Gains from Trade: A Better Allocation 6
- Producer Decisions 7
 - Gains from Trade: Greater Production* 7 □ Specialization, Division of Labor, and Comparative Advantage 8
- International Trade 8

Scarcity and Choice for the Economy as a Whole 8

- Production Possibilities 8
- Increasing Opportunity Costs 9
- The Production Possibilities Curve 11
 - Inefficient, Efficient, or Impossible?* 11 □ Shifts in the Production Possibilities Curve 11 □ Scarcity, Choice, and Economic Progress 13

Market Economies and the Price System 13

- Key Elements of a Market Economy 15
 - Freely Determined Prices* 15 □ Property Rights and Incentives 15 □ Freedom to Trade at Home and Abroad 15 □ A Role for Government 16 □ The Role of Private Organizations 16
- The Price System 16
 - Signals* 17 □ Incentives 17 □ Distribution 17

Conclusion 20

CHAPTER 2 Observing and Explaining the Economy 24

What Do Economists Do? 25

The Fluctuating Price of Gasoline 26

- Describing an Economic Event 26
 - Data Limitations* 28
- Explaining an Economic Event 28
 - Correlation versus Causation* 30 □ The Lack of Controlled Experiments in Economics 30
- Predicting the Impact of Future Changes 32
 - Economic Models* 32 □ Microeconomic Models versus Macroeconomic Models 32 □ An Example: A Model with Two Variables 33
- The Ceteris Paribus Assumption 35
- The Use of Existing Models 35
- The Development of New Models 35

Recommending Appropriate Policies 36

- Positive versus Normative Economics 36
- Economics as a Science versus a Partisan Policy Tool 36
- Economics Is Not the Only Factor in Policy Issues 37
- Disagreement Between Economists 40

Conclusion: A Reader's Guide 40

- Key Points 41 □ Key Terms 42 □ Questions for Review 42 □ Problems 42

ECONOMICS IN ACTION: AN ECONOMIC EXPERIMENT TO STUDY DISCRIMINATION 31

ECONOMICS IN ACTION: SCIENCE OR PERSUASION? 37

ECONOMICS IN THE NEWS: YOUNG ECONOMISTS AT WORK 38

Exponential Effects 138

Rule of 72 139

Plotting Growing Variables 139

Key Points 140 □ Key Term and Definition 140 □ Questions for Review 140 □ Problems 140

CHAPTER 6 Measuring the Production, Income, and Spending of Nations 142Measuring GDP 143

A Precise Definition of GDP 143

Prices Determine the Importance of Goods and Services in GDP 144 □ Intermediate Goods versus Final Goods 144 □ Stocks versus Flows 145 □ Three Ways to Measure GDP 146

The Spending Approach 146

Consumption 146 □ Investment 147 □ Government Purchases 148 □ Net Exports 148 □ Algebraic Summary 149

The Income Approach 149

Labor Income 150 □ Capital Income 150 □ Depreciation 150 □ Taxes, Subsidies, and Transfers 151 □ Net Income of Foreigners 151

The Production Approach 152

Saving 154

Individual Saving 154

National Saving 154

Measuring Real GDP 155

- Adjusting GDP for Inflation 156
 - Calculating Real GDP Growth 156* □ A Year-to-Year Chain 157 □ Obtaining the Values of Real GDP 157 □ Real GDP versus Nominal GDP over Time 157

The GDP Deflator 160

Alternative Inflation Measures 160

Shortcomings of the GDP Measure 162

- Revisions to GDP 163
- Omissions from GDP 163
 - Home Work and Production 163* □ Leisure Activity 163 □ The Underground Economy 163 □ Quality Improvements 164

Other Measures of Well-Being 164
