Contents

Preface xv

PART I
Chapter 1 Primer on Derivatives  1
Introduction  1
What Are Derivatives?  3
Who Buys and Sells Derivatives?  4
Where Are Derivatives Bought and Sold?  4
Two Major Types of Derivatives  5
   Terminology That Is Common To All Derivatives  5
   Forward Contracts  5
   Options  9
Risk Notepad 1.1: OTC-Traded Versus Exchange-Traded Derivatives  13
Conclusion  16
Review Questions  16
Bibliography  18

PART II
Chapter 2 Employee Stock Options: What Every MBA Should Know  19
Introduction  19
Employee Stock Options: A Major Pillar of Executive Compensation  21
Why Do Companies Use Employee Stock Options?  22
   Aligning Incentives  22
   Hiring and Retention  23
Contents

Risk Notepad 7.2: Doubling
Increasing Commission Income by Offering Deals at Non-Market Prices
Using the Financial Resources of Barings as His Cash Cow
Booking Fictitious Trades and Falsifying Records

Risk Notepad 7.3: Leeson's Most Flagrant Falsification Scheme

Net Profit/Loss Profile of Leeson's Exposures

Leeson's Long Futures Positions
Leeson's Short Straddles
Profit/Loss Profile: Combining One Short Straddle and One Long Futures Contract
Profit/Loss Profile: Combining a Long Futures Position and "Numerous" Short Straddles
Massive Purchases of Nikkei 225 Futures Contracts

Beyond Irony: The Barings Failure in a Broader Time Frame

A Bank for a Pound

Aftermath of the Barings Failure

How Could Barings Have Caught Leeson Sooner?

Conclusions: Leeson's Lessons

Epilogue: What Happened to the Key Players in the Barings Financial Fiasco?

Review Questions

Bibliography

Chapter 8 Long-Term Capital Mismanagement: "JM and the Arb Boys"

Introduction

Risk Notepad 8.1: What Is a Hedge Fund?

LTCM: The Company

The LTCM Business
The Principals

LTCM's Strategy
Chapter 9   Amaranth Advisors LLC: Using Natural Gas Derivatives to Bet on the Weather   270

Introduction   270

Amaranth Advisors LLC   271

Natural Gas Markets   273

Amaranth's Natural Gas Trading Strategy and Performance: 2005 to 2006   275
  2005: Using Long Call Options to Bet on the Weather   276
  2006: Using Futures and Spreads to Bet on the Weather   277

Risk Notepad 9.1: Measuring Natural Gas and Putting Amaranth's Positions into Perspective   280

Risk Notepad 9.2: Understanding How Profits Are Earned on Spread Trades   281

What Caused Amaranth's Catastrophic Losses?   287
  Inadequate Risk Management Practices   287
  Lack of Liquidity   290
  Extraordinarily Large Movements in Market Prices   291

Explosion or Implosion? Who Got Hurt?   292

Aftermath   293
  Did the Futures Markets Function Effectively?   294
  Did Amaranth Dominate Futures Markets, Engage in Excessive Speculation, and/or Conduct Regulatory Arbitrage?   294
  Did Amaranth Manipulate Prices?   300

Risk Notepad 9.3: A Tale of Two Hedge Funds   302

Conclusion   308

Epilogue: What Happened to the Amaranth's Traders and Managers?   309
  Brian Hunter: Chief Trader at Amaranth   309
  Nick Maounis: CEO and Founder of Amaranth   310
  Harry Arora: Trader and Former Head (and Later Co-head) of Amaranth's Commodity Group; Brian Hunter's Former Boss   310
  Matthew Donohoe: Trader at Amaranth Who Was Also Charged by FERC with Price Manipulation   310