Global Governance in Accounting
Rebalancing Public Power and Private Commitment

Jochen Zimmermann, Jörg R. Werner and Philipp B. Volmer
Department of Accounting, Bremen University, Germany
Contents

List of Exhibits viii
List of Abbreviations x
Acknowledgements xvi
Series Editor's Preface xvii

Part I Transformations of Statehood in Accounting: The Framework

1 Accounting: A Socio-economic View 5
   1.1 The localization of accounting: Business and regulatory contexts 5
   1.2 The policy fields of financial reporting 10
   1.3 The function of accounting within the varieties of capitalism 12
   1.4 Governance modes and the role of the state 17

2 Transformation of Role Models: Germany, the UK and the US 22
   2.1 UK accounting: Diversity, professions and 'fair presentation' 23
   2.2 German accounting: Commercial Code, jurisprudence and taxation 26
   2.3 US accounting: Financial markets, interstate commerce and dominance of the SEC 29
   2.4 Conclusion 32

Part II New Governance Arrangements in Disclosure

3 Rise and Fall of the Golden-Age Nation State Model 35
   3.1 Standard-setting in the US: Not quite Europe's precursor 35
3.2 Standard-setting in Europe: National developments and early European interventions 42
3.3 Conclusion 54

4 The New Accounting Procedures in Europe: Combining Transnational Standard-setting and Supranational Rule-making 57
4.1 The emerging framework: The IAS 58
4.2 The European use of the framework 61
4.3 Shifting responsibilities from the nation state: The legitimacy issue 64
4.4 Conclusion 68

5 The Struggle between Private and Public: The Case of Stock Exchanges 69
5.1 The business model and organizational form of stock exchanges 71
5.2 Germany: An active role for the private sector 73
5.3 The UK: The shift to state control 84
5.4 The US: Crowding out the private sector 90
5.5 Conclusion 97

Part III The Role of the Nation State in Enforcement

6 Dawn and Dusk of the Nation State in Auditing: From Supervising Private Arrangements to Transnational Governance 103
6.1 Auditing: A supply and demand analysis 104
6.2 Audit governance: Institutions and procedures 108
6.3 The emerging global framework: The IFAC 116
6.4 Conclusion 117

7 The Stronghold of the Nation State: Enforcement Agencies 120
7.1 The US case: A comprehensive policing role for the SEC 121
7.2 The UK case: Coexisting variations of the private–public mix 126
7.3  The German case: A public-private mix with low sanctioning powers 131
7.4  Financial regulation of listed firms: Europe vs the US 137
7.5  Conclusion 140

Part IV  Forces of Transformation and Convergence: Potency and Impotence of the Nation State

8  The Weakened Nation State: Economic Globalization and Regime Convergence 145
  8.1  Measuring the extent of globalization 146
  8.2  Cross-listings as a phenomenon of globalization 152
  8.3  Influence of globalization on national legal systems 157
  8.4  Conclusion 161

9  The Powerful Nation State: Sarbanes–Oxley and the Global Reach of Regulation 163
  9.1  The scope of the SOA 164
  9.2  Institutional changes triggered in the US 166
  9.3  The interference of SOA with extraterritorial regulation 171
  9.4  Pre-SOA developments in European countries 173
  9.5  Recent regulatory developments: Functional convergence to the US model 177
  9.6  Conclusion 183

Part V  Analytical Summary and Conclusion

10  Convergence Patterns in Public–Private Collaborations 189
  10.1  Regulation in the golden age 191
  10.2  Today's regulation 197
  10.3  Conclusions 203

Epilogue 207

Notes 209

References 212

Index 229