
JOHN MCMANUS, DON WHITE AND NEIL BOTTEN

Chandos Publishing
Oxford - England
Contents

List of figures and tables
ix

About the authors
xi

Acknowledgements
xiii

List of acronyms
 xv

Introduction
xvii

1 The rapid change in international and global business

- Globalisation of management
  1
- Globalisation of international business
  4
- Global capital and capital markets
  9
- Foreign direct investment and economic integration 12
- Multinational enterprises and global enterprises
  19
- Global and intra-corporate entrepreneurship
  24
- Key chapter messages
  30
- Notes
  32

2 The market and competitive forces that shape international and global business

- Globalisation of markets
  33
- Global expansion of world trade
  37
- Market opportunities for firms operating within the OECD 40
- Global and international service markets
  45
- Policy, regulation, consumers and the market
  50
- Innovation and diffusion
  56
6 Managing the strategic process in a global and international business environment 137
Determineing the strategic process 137
Determining strategic formulation and dynamics 140
Determining strategic choice (entry and exit strategies) 142
Translating strategy into action 153
Key chapter messages 157
Notes 159

7 Case study: China, India and Russia - a strategic and market perspective within the global software industry 161
Introduction 161
Market segmentation 162
Competitive scope 164
Strategies and interrelationships 165
The software industry: a Chinese perspective 167
The software industry: an Indian perspective 170
Russia's software industry 174
Conclusions: some implications for the industry 177
Acknowledgements 178
Notes 178

8 Case study: evaluating the commercial aerospace industry of the BRIC nations 179
Introduction 179
The global aerospace industry 180
Brazil's aerospace industry 186
Russia's aerospace industry 188
India's aerospace industry 192
China's aerospace industry 195