Contents

List of tables and figures vii
List of contributors viii
Preface xii
Acknowledgements xiv

PART I ‘LEADING’ THE EAST ASIA REGION

1. What region to lead? Developments in East Asian regionalism and questions of regional leadership 3
   Christopher M. Dent

PART II CHINA–JAPAN RELATIONS IN FOCUS

2. Japan’s policy towards China: domestic structural change, globalization, history and nationalism 37
   Christopher W. Hughes
3. Sino-Japanese relations after Koizumi and the limits of ‘new era’ diplomacy 52
   Caroline Rose

PART III JAPAN AND CHINA IN THE EAST ASIA REGION

4. Comparing summitry, financial and trade regionalisms in East Asia: from the Japanese perspective 67
   Shintaro Hamanaka
5. China’s place in East Asia 84
   Steve Tsang
6. A regional partner or a threatening other? Chinese discourse of Japan’s changing security role in East Asia 101
   Rex Li

PART IV ADDRESSING THE RISE OF CHINA

7. Towards a Sino-centric regional order? Empowering China and constructing regional order(s) 131
   Shaun Breslin
8. Who's leading who in ASEAN–China relations? Community-building versus Pax Sinica in the management of regional security
   Joern Dosch
   156

PART V  REGIONAL AND MULTILATERAL ORGANIZATION PERSPECTIVES

   Hugo Dobson
   181
10. Contesting East Asian security leadership: China and the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation
    Neil Renwick
    203

PART VI  INTERMEDIARY POWERS? THE UNITED STATES AND KOREA

11. The United States and East Asia: the decline of long-distance leadership?
    Mark Beeson
    229
12. A shrimp among the whales? Korea in the Northeast and East Asia regional system
    Christoph Bluth and Christopher M. Dent
    247

PART VII  CONCLUSION

13. Regional leadership in East Asia: towards new analytical approaches
    Christopher M. Dent
    275

Index
305