The Rise of Canadian Business

Graham D. Taylor
Contents

Introduction v
Organization of the Book viii

1 The Road to Craigellachie: Business in Canada to 1885 1
   Commercial Beginnings 3
   Networks and Communities 7
   Ties That Bind 13

PART I: THE AGE OF BUSINESS CONSOLIDATION, 1885–1930 19

2 Commanding Heights 21
   Finance Capitalism in Canada 22
   Money Markets and Mergers 28
   Wealth and Power in Canada 29

3 Networks of Progress 35
   Electrical Utilities 35
   Railways 44

4 Gifts of Nature 53
   The Wheat Boom 53
   Mining 57
   Forestry Products 64

5 Nation Builders 70
   Revolution in Retailing 72
   Manufacturing Patterns 78
   Textiles 79
   Iron and Steel 81
   A Foreign Presence 84

6 Integration and Disintegration 90
   Controlling the Workplace 91
   The Roots of Regional Inequality 97
   The Persistence of Small Business 101

7 The Incomplete Leviathan 111
   The Regulatory Impulse 112
   Confronting the Great Depression 119

8 The Arsenal Economy 130
   World War I 131
   World War II 136
   Mobilization for Cold War, 1949–59 145

9 Province Builders 153
   The Rise of the West 155
   'Mattres Chez Nous' 164
   The Perils of Province-Building 169

10 Mandarins and Multinationals 177
   The Caretaker State 178
   The Multinational Storm 181

PART III: CANADA IN THE NEW ERA OF GLOBALIZATION, 1980 TO THE PRESENT 195

11 Canadians Abroad 197
   Bankers in Warmer Climates 198
   The Globalization of the Insurance Business 203
   The Resource Multinationals 204
   Manufacturing (and Other) Multinationals 210

12 Fortune's Favourites 215
   All in the Family 216
   Conglomerators 222
   A (Partial) Changing of the Guard 229

13 Into the Millennium 235
   'Open for Business' 236
   The Crowns Depart 240
   Travails of the 'New Economy' 243
   Return of the 'Old Economy' 247
   'Hollowed Out'? 252

Notes 256
Further Readings 272
Index 275