Building Customer-Brand Relationships

Don E. Schultz
Beth E. Barnes
Heidi F. Schultz
Marian Azzaro

M.E.Sharpe
Armonk, New York
London, England
Contents

Preface: Who Needs Another Campaigns Book? ix

1. Customers and Brands: Marketplace Drivers for All 3
   - Setting the Stage: Key Challenges and Requirements for Brand Marketers 4
   - Moving Beyond Campaigns to Developing Relationships 8
   - Clarifying the Terms 9
   - Brand Communication 14
   - The Changing World of Communication and Media 16
   - Needed: A Customer-Centric, Holistic View of Brand Communication 22

I. Understanding Customers: How They Think and How They Behave 27

2. All Marketing Starts With Customers 29
   - Expanding the Concept of a Customer 29
   - Visualizing Customer Relationships 35
   - The Challenge of Achieving Customer Focus 38
   - The SIVA System 41

3. Developing Customer Insights 47
   - The Consumer Decision-Making Process 47
   - Influences on Customer Decision Making 52
   - How Consumers Learn 58
   - Environmental Influences 63

4. How Customers Think 72
   - The Communication Model 73
   - The Mind of the Market 77
   - The Filing System 81
   - Biology and Emotion 86
   - More on Motivation 87
   - The FCB Grid 89

5. Identifying Customer Needs, Wants, and Desires 93
   - The Need for Targeting 93
   - Managing Communication Among the Six Markets 111
6. Finding Customer-Brand Connections
   Secondary Data 115
   Primary Research 120
   Qualitative Research 127
   Relationship Research 130

7. Data: Using the Database to Separate Good and Bad Customers
   What Marketers Know About Customers: Types of Customer Data 135
   Leveraging Customer Information: A Framework 138
   Using and Analyzing Customer Data 143
   Valuing Customers and Prospects 147
   The Issue of Customer Profitability 151

II. Accountability: Marketing's Biggest Challenge 153

8. Customer-First Planning: From the Outside In
   The Historical Base for Current Customer-Brand Relationship Measurement 155
   Three Challenges 157
   The Three Pathways Model of Customer-Brand Relationship Measurement 159
   Pathway 1: Customer-Based Attitudinal Measures 161
   Pathway 2: Short-Term Incremental Brand Sales 165
   Pathway 3: Branded Business Value 168
   A General Model for Brand Valuation 169

9. Investing in Customers, Not Marketing Communication
   Above- and Below-the-Line Complications 175
   Why Should the Firm Invest in Marketing and Communication Programs? 176
   Traditional Methods of Marketing and Communication Budgeting 179
   Basing Budgets on the Value of Customer-Brand Relationships 183
   Lifetime Customer Value and Customer-Brand Relationships 192

III. Communicating With Customers in a Fragmented Marketplace 195

10. Touching Customers With Communication
   Media Multitasking 200
   Relevance and Receptivity 202
   Understanding Brand Contacts 204
   Engagement 206

11. Delivering Customer Communication Connections
   Changes in the Twenty-First-Century Media Marketplace 212
   The Traditional Media-Planning Model 216
   The Media Consumption Planning Model 221
   Other Consumer-First Media-Planning Models 223
   Changing the View of Media 226
   Moving Forward to a New Model 228
12. Customer Consumption of Communication
The Culture and Evolution of Media Research 231
Measuring the Audience and Effect of Advertising Media 238
Measuring the Audience and Effect of Other Delivery Systems 243
Omnibus Issues in Media and Audience Measurement 249

13. Outbound or Push Communication Delivery Systems
Advertising Media 253
Other Media Delivery Systems 271

14. Interactive or Pull Communication Delivery Systems
Experiential Marketing 276
Interactive Communications 277
Person-to-Person Interactive Marketing 278
Digital Interactive Marketing 284
The Holistic Consumer Experience and Activation 292

IV. The Right Message to the Right Audience at the Right Time

15. Linking Customers and Marketers With Value Propositions
Developing the Value Proposition 300
The Customer-Brand Relationship Strategy Development Form 302
Example One: Target and Ultimate Customers 306
Example Two: Customer Relationship Management Product 312

16. Communicating Brand Value to Customers
Brand Knowledge 319
Push Versus Pull Communications 321
Push Communications for Messages 322
Push Communications for Incentives 326
Pull Communications 331
“What Happens Here Stays Here”: Applying Push and Pull Communications 335

17. Next Steps in Building Customer-Brand Relationships
Where Do We Go From Here? 340
Starting With Customers and Prospects 340
Reeducation in Marketing Communication 342

Index 345
About the Authors 355