International Strategy

Methods for Competitiveness

Anders Pehrsson

Växjö University Press
Contents

Figures 6
Tables 6
Preface 7

1 Outline of the book 8

PART I The international strategy model 11

Introduction 13

2 Components of the international strategy model 15
   The competitive environment 15
      Perceived entry barriers 15
      Competitive certainty 17
   International strategy 17
      Corporate international strategy 18
      Corporate strategy competence 19
         Business relatedness 19
      International market experience 20
   Strategy in a market: the Strategic States model 20
      Dimensions, strategies and competitive differentiation 21
      Divergence or concentration? 25
      Standardization or adaptation? 27
      What differentiation attributes? 28
   Evaluation of strategy alternatives 29
   International strategy implementation 31
      Market entry and expansion: the PSE model 31
      Corporate control of foreign operations 34
      Value adding in foreign markets 34
   International competitiveness and its sources 35
      The industrial organization view 36
      The resource-based view 37
      The evolutionary view 39

PART II Cases on international strategy 41

Introduction 43

3 Strategy effects of perceived entry barriers in telecommunications 44
   Mercury: strategy effects of barriers in the United Kingdom 44
Te2 and Dotcom: strategy effects of barriers in Sweden 46
Lessons regarding treatment of entry barriers 47

4 Development of Ericsson’s international strategy 48
   Divergence and standardization in the operator market 49
      The historical state 50
      Deregulation of operator markets 50
      Ericsson’s response to changing markets 51
   Ericsson enters the US market and expands 51
      Perceptions of entry barriers 52
      Corporate strategy competence and the US operations 52
      Choice of mode of entry and expansion 54
   Lessons regarding international strategy and its implementation 55

5 Access of Swedish suppliers to European car producers 57
   Gestamp-Hardtech: approach Audi, the large car producer? 57
   Svensk Tryckgjutning: more customers beyond Mercedes? 59
   Lessons regarding access to large customers 60

6 Strategy implementation of Swedish suppliers on the US automotive market 61
   Haldex: a foreign subsidiary or a joint venture? 62
      The situation of Haldex 62
      Some competitors of Haldex 63
         ArwinMeritor 63
         Knorr-Bremse 65
         Wabco 66
         Getrag 67
         Casappa 68
   Gnosjöplast: a foreign sales company or local production? 68
   Lessons learned by Swedish suppliers to US automotive producers 69

PART III Survey studies of international strategy and competitiveness 71

Introduction 73

7 Data bases and procedures 74
   Data from foreign subsidiaries 75
   Data from headquarters 75

8 Findings of the survey studies 77
   Corporate strategy competence and foreign performance 78
      What do we need to know? 79
      Discussion of the findings 79
Consistency of strategy in foreign markets 81
What do we need to know? 82
Discussion of the findings 83
Strategy implementation: what type of corporate control? 85
What do we need to know? 85
Discussion of the findings 86
Strategy implementation: competitive differentiation and foreign value adding 86
What do we need to know? 87
Discussion of the findings 88

PART IV A concluding discussion 91

Introduction 93

9 Strategy drivers of international competitiveness 94
   Identified sources of international competitiveness 94
      Corporate strategy competence 94
      Strategy consistency 95
      Foreign value adding 96
      The strategy drivers and the resource-based view 97

10 Applying the methods for competitiveness 99
   Building corporate strategy competence 99
   Strengthening strategy consistency 100
   Choosing foreign value adding 100
   Working procedure 100

Notes on methods of the survey studies 102
References 107