

Globalization and Systemic Risk

edited by

Douglas D Evanoff
Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, USA

David S Hoelscher
International Monetary Fund, USA

George G Kaufman
Loyola University Chicago, USA

World Scientific

Contents

Preface	v
Acknowledgments	vii
I. Special Addresses	1
Through the Looking Glass: The Links between Financial Globalization and Systemic Risk John Lipsky	3
The Current Financial Crisis: Will Latin America Be Caught in the Web, Again? Guillermo A. Calvo	11
Remarks on Systemic Risk and the International Lender of Last Resort Frederic S. Mishkin	27
The Crisis of 2007: The Same Old Story, Only the Players Have Changed Michael D. Bordo	39
II. Current State of Financial Globalization	51
Financial Globalization and Stability Falko Fecht, Hans-Peter Grüner, Philipp Hartmann and Marco Lo Duca	53
Does Financial Integration Improve Countries' Growth Opportunities? Gianni De Nicolò	85
Financial Globalization in the Asian Region Philip Lowe	97

The Current State of Financial Globalization — Good News, and Bad Gerard Caprio, Jr.	113
III. Globalization and Systemic Risk — Theory	119
Incentive Conflict in Central Bank Responses to Sectoral Turmoil in Financial Hub Countries Edward J. Kane	121
Systemic Risk and Prudential Regulation in the Global Economy Xavier Freixas	145
The Broad Yen Carry Trade Hyun Song Shin and Masazumi Hattori	169
Systemic Risk in a Global Context: Comment on Freixas, Hattori and Shin, and Kane Richard J. Herring	191
IV. Globalization and Systemic Risk — Nonbank Financial Intermediaries	205
Remarks on Globalization and Systemic Risk: Nonbank Financial Intermediaries Julian Adams	207
Globalization Duality and Nonbank Financial Intermediaries Mohamed A. El-Erian	217
Pension Plans and Systemic Risk Dennis E. Logue	225
V. Globalization and Systemic Risk — Banks	231
International Integration, Common Exposure and Systemic Risk in the Banking Sector Nicole Allenspach and Pierre Monnin	233
The Systemic Risk Implications of Originate and Distribute Andrew G. Haldane	251

Quantitative Modeling of Systemic Risk in a Globalized Banking System: Methodological Challenges Martin Summer	275
Globalization and Systemic Risk Grant Spencer	291
VI. Globalization and Systemic Risk — Capital Markets	297
The Sub-Prime Crisis and Systemic Risk: Evidence from US Securities Markets Leonce Bargeron, Kenneth Lehn and Mehmet Yalin	299
Systemic Risks in Our Global Marketplace Chester S. Spatt	313
What Can Central Bankers Learn from Hedge Fund Replication Strategies? David A. Hsieh	331
Comments on Session VI: Globalization and Systemic Risk — Capital Markets Liliana Rojas-Suarez	349
VII. Crisis Resolution in a Global Context	355
Global Crisis Management John Lane	357
EU Financial-Stability Framework: Analytical Benchmarks for Assessing Its Effectiveness María J. Nieto and Garry J. Schinasi	361
Crisis Resolution in a Global Context: Regulation and Supervision for Cross-Border Banking Mattias Persson	379
Crisis Resolution in a Global Context Pascual O'Dogherty	389
VIII. Where to Go from Here — Policy Panel	395
Speaking Points for Where to Go from Here? Policy Panel Jaime Caruana	397

The US Government's Approach to Financial Decisions Kenneth W. Dam	403
Globalization and Systemic Risk: Where to Go from Here — Policy Panel William L. Rutledge	409
Comments on Session VIII: Where to Go from Here — Policy Panel Andrew Sheng	415
Basel II, Regulation and the Sub-Prime "Crisis" Michael W. Taylor	429
International Agenda	437
Index	441