New Europe's Old Regions

PIOTR ZIENTARA

iea
The Institute of Economic Affairs
CONTENTS

The author 8
Foreword 9
Summary 12
List of figures, tables and boxes 15
Author's preface 17

1 Introduction 21
Old Europe welcomes New Europe 21
Old Europe and New Europe — economic and political differences 24
A Europe of regions? 27
How EU regional policy can work against the Lisbon Agenda 28
New Europe's old industrial regions 30
Summary 32

2 Regional disparities at EU and member state level 34
GDP per capita 36
Income 40
Employment and unemployment rates 43
Labour productivity and productivity growth 45
3 Economic and political structure of Europe
   Economic and political ramifications
   The condition of European business
   Structural weaknesses of continental Europe

4 Two aspects of EU regional policy
   Socio-political implications of EU regionalism
   The principles and instruments of EU cohesion policy
   The rationale of national regional state aid

5 The challenges of globalisation
   European regions and the challenges of globalisation
   The critics of globalisation
   The complex reality of the impact of globalisation

6 The learning region and social capital
   Innovation, learning and regional development
   The concept of the learning region
   Implications of social capital
   Critique of the new regionalism and its relevance to central and eastern Europe

7 Poland’s systemic transformation and its impact on regionalism
   Poland’s stalled reform
   Poland and the challenges of a knowledge-based economy
   Poland’s regional agenda
8 Proposed policy recommendations
   ‘Non-solutions’: general policies to be avoided 125
   ‘Non-solutions’: regional policies to be avoided 132

9 EU regional aid and evidence from other member states
   General assessment of the effectiveness of European cohesion policy 136
   Success stories: evidence from Ireland and Spain 139
   East Germany and the pitfalls of reunification 143
   Romania’s economic agenda and lessons for Poland 148

10 Strategies for reinvigorating the regions
    Liberalisation 151
    The merits of further decentralisation 155
    The process of change 160
    Silesia: towards the learning region 163

11 Conclusion 168

References 177

About the IEA 198