An Integrated Approach to
New Food
Product Development
Contents

Foreword ix
Preface xi
Acknowledgments xv
Editors xvii
Contributors xxi

PART I  Setting the Agenda for Successful New Product Development

Chapter 1  The New Product Success Equation: Building Success into the New Product Development Process (a.k.a. An Objective-Based Product Development Process) 3
Tim Straus

PART II  Defining and Meeting Target Consumer Needs and Expectation

Chapter 2  Strategic Planning 27
Todd K. Abraham

Chapter 3  Innovation as Science 37
Martinus A.J.S. van Boekel

Chapter 4  Innovation: Integrated and Profitable 53
Paul Chaudury

Chapter 5  Innovation Partnerships as a Vehicle toward Open Innovation and Open Business 65
Helmut Traitler

Chapter 6  Trend Monitoring: Sorting Fad from Long-Lasting Profit-Building Trends 79
David Christopher Wolf
Chapter 7  Wide World of New Products: A Unique Perspective of New Products around the World That Have Hit Their Mark with the Consumer......................................................... 97

Lynn Dornblaser

PART III  The Right Food

Chapter 8  Consumer Packaged Goods Product Development Processes in the 21st Century: Product Lifecycle Management Emerges as a Key Innovation Driver.................................................. 113

Chip Perry and Max Cochet

Chapter 9  Personalizing Foods .......................................................... 133

Heribert J. Watzke and J. Bruce German

Chapter 10  Creating Food Concepts to Guide Product Development and Marketing ................................................................. 175

Howard R. Moskowitz, Michele Reisner, and Andrea Maier

Chapter 11  Defining and Meeting Customer Needs: Beyond Hearing the Voice of the Consumer ...................................................... 217

Carole Schmidt

Chapter 12  Observing the Consumer in Context.................................. 233

Jacqueline H. Beckley and Cornelia A. Ramsey

Chapter 13  Getting the Food Right for Children: How to Win with Kids ....... 247

Bryan Urbick

PART IV  Proper Packaging and Preparation

Chapter 14  Food Packaging Trends.......................................................... 263

Aaron L. Brody

Stacey A. Cox and Robert Delaney
Chapter 16  Relevance Regained: Designing More “Democratic” Domestic Kitchen Appliances by Taking into Consideration User Needs and Other Relevant Opinions...........................................291

Grant Davidson, Tammo de Ligny, and Marco Bevolo

Chapter 17  Chef Formulation and Integration: Ensuring that Great Food and Food Science Work Together.................................................................303

Mario Valdovinos

Chapter 18  Gastronomic Engineering .................................................................317

Jose M. Aguilera

Chapter 19  The Right Preparation Technique ......................................................329

Dave Zino

Chapter 20  Recent Developments in Consumer Research of Food ......................345

Herbert L. Meiselman

PART V  Positioned Correctly at the Shelf and in the Media

Chapter 21  Getting the Package and Web Site Graphics Right with Consumer Co-creation .................................................................369

Alex Gofman

Chapter 22  Getting the Positioning Right: Advertising Planning .........................387

Jeffrey Ewald

PART VI  Meet Corporate Logistics and Financial Imperatives

Chapter 23  The Importance of Product Innovation...........................................403

Phillip S. Perkins

Chapter 24  Alternative Processing Methods for Functional Foods.....................413

Dietrich Knorr, Ana Balasa, Doerte Boll, Henry Jäger, Alexander Mathys, Esma Oba, and Marcus Volkert
Chapter 25  Accelerated and Parallel Storage in Shelf Life Studies .......................... 429
   I. Sam Saguy and Micha Peleg

Chapter 26  Commercialization and Manufacturing ............................................... 457
   J. Peter Clark and Leon Levine

Index .............................................................................................................................. 471