Tilling the Hateful Earth

Agricultural Production and Trade in the Late Antique East

By

MICHAEL DECKER

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
Contents

Acknowledgements vii
Figures viii
Tables x
Maps xi
Abbreviations xxv

Introduction 1
1 The Land: Climate and Geography 7
2 The Countryside in Late Antiquity 28
3 Hand to Mouth: Grain in Late Antiquity 80
4 The Vine 121
5 The ‘Queen of All Trees’: The Olive in Late Antique Agriculture 149
6 Invading the Desert: Irrigation and Agrarian Expansion 174
7 Mixed Farming and Limited Specialization: Methods and Means of Intensification 204
8 Trade, Agriculture, and the Economy of the Late Antique East 228
Conclusion 258
Appendix: The Value of the Geoponica as a Source for Late Antique Agricultural Practices 263

Bibliography 273
Index 309