ILO standards on occupational safety and health

Promoting a safe and healthy working environment
Contents

Summary xi
List of abbreviations xiii

Chapter I. Introduction 1

1. Background and scope of survey 1
2. The place of occupational safety and health 1
3. The 1981 instruments 5
   A. Policy-based approach focused on prevention 5
   B. Scope and objectives 6
   C. Flexibility clauses 6
4. The instruments in context 8
5. Status of ratification 9
6. Information available 9
7. Outline of the survey 10

Chapter II. Requirements of ILO standards and review of national law and practice: Convention No. 155 and Recommendation No. 164 11

1. Scope, coverage and exclusions 11
   A. Coverage of branches of economic activity 11
   B. Coverage of particular categories of workers 13
   C. The informal economy 14
   D. Progressive extension of scope 15
2. The role of employers and workers 15
3. Principles of a national policy for prevention 18
   A. The national policy process 18
   B. National policies in practice 19
4. Main spheres of action 21
   A. Controlling the material elements of work 21
   B. Adapting the working environment to the workers 22
   C. Training of persons involved 23
   D. Communication and cooperation 23
   E. Protection of workers and their representatives from disciplinary measures 23
5. Review of the national policy and national situation 25
6. Institutional responsibilities and cooperation
   A. Administrative functions and responsibilities
   B. Coordination, cooperation and consultation
      (1) Coordination and cooperation
      (2) Central body
      (3) Consultation

7. Implementation at the national level
   A. Legislative action at the national level
   B. Enforcement of laws and regulations
      (1) Adequate and appropriate labour inspection systems
      (2) Adequate penalties
      (3) Complementary and voluntary mechanisms
   C. Guidance and information on OSH
      (1) Providing guidance to ensure compliance
      (2) Including OSH at all levels of education and training
   D. Progressive extension of the national policy
      (1) Controlling the design, construction and layout of undertakings
      (2) Controlling the use of substances and work processes
      (3) Occupational accidents and diseases: Record keeping, notification and statistics
      (4) Holding of inquiries
      (5) Publication of measures taken to implement the national policy and related data
      (6) Knowledge and risk assessment
   E. Protection of workers removed from situations presenting imminent and serious danger
   F. Responsibilities of designers, manufacturers, importers, etc
      (1) Ensuring that machinery, equipment or substances do not entail dangers
      (2) Make information and instructions available
      (3) Undertake studies and research

8. Implementation at the workplace
   A. Employers' duties and responsibilities
      (1) General duties and responsibilities
      (2) Two or more employers at the same workplace
      (3) Emergency response systems
   B. Availability of OSH services and advice
   C. Rights and duties of workers and their representatives
      (1) Workers' duty to cooperate
      (2) Workers' representatives
      (3) Training of workers and their representatives
      (4) Participation of workers, their representatives and their organizations in inquiries
      (5) Situations presenting an imminent and serious danger
   D. Cooperation between employers and workers
      (1) Arrangements for cooperation
      (2) Functions of the cooperation mechanisms
   E. Provision of OSH measures at no cost to workers

9. References to other instruments
Chapter III. Requirements of ILO standards and review of national law and practice:
Recording and notification and the 2002 Protocol ........................................ 75

1. Background ........................................................................................................ 75
2. Scope and coverage .............................................................................................. 76
   A. Occupational accidents ................................................................................. 76
   B. Occupational diseases .................................................................................. 77
   C. Dangerous occurrences ................................................................................. 78
   D. Commuting accidents .................................................................................... 79
3. Common requirements ......................................................................................... 80
4. Recording requirements and procedures .......................................................... 81
   A. Responsibility to record ................................................................................ 81
      (1) Informing workers and their representatives ......................................... 82
      (2) Maintenance and use of records ............................................................. 82
      (3) Protection of workers from retaliatory or disciplinary measures .......... 82
   B. Information to be recorded .......................................................................... 83
   C. Duration for maintaining the records ............................................................ 83
   D. Confidentiality ............................................................................................... 83
5. Notification requirements ................................................................................. 83
   A. Employers' responsibilities .......................................................................... 84
      (1) Notification to competent authorities or other designated bodies ....... 84
      (2) Informing workers and their representatives ......................................... 85
   B. Notification by other bodies ....................................................................... 85
      (1) Criteria determining the notification requirements ............................. 86
      (2) Time limits for notification .................................................................... 86
6. National statistics ............................................................................................... 87
   A. Annual publication of statistics .................................................................... 87
   B. Classification schemes .................................................................................. 89
   C. Available statistical information ................................................................... 90

Chapter IV. Impact, obstacles and prospects for further ratifications ................. 93

1. The Convention and the Recommendation ....................................................... 93
2. The Protocol ..................................................................................................... 95
3. ILO assistance to support member States and the social partners ................... 96

Chapter V. Concluding remarks ............................................................................ 99

1. The continuing relevance of the instruments .................................................... 99
2. Addressing a continuing challenge .................................................................. 101