The UCLA Anderson Business and Information Technologies (BIT) Project

A Global Study of Business Practice

editors

Uday Karmarkar
University of California, Los Angeles, USA

Vandana Mangal
University of California, Los Angeles, USA
CONTENTS

Preface v

PART I — SURVEY REPORTS 1

1. Longitudinal Trends in the United States — Results of the BIT Survey over Three Years 3
   Uday S. Karmarkar and Vandana Mangal

2. The Impact of IT in an Emerging Country: Results from the First BIT-Chile Survey 31
   Sergio Godoy, Maria Soledad Herrera, and Marcos Sepúlveda

3. The Business and Information Technologies (BIT) Survey in Korea Annual Report 2006 65
   Hosun Rhim, Hong-Il Kim, and Kwangtae Park

   Atanu Ghosh, Gargi Banerjee, and Ashish Hattangdi

5. The German Business and Information Technologies Project 145
   Francis Bidault, Christoph Goebel, Oliver Günther, Thomas Hildebrand, and Hanna Krasnova

   Ya-Ching Lee, Ting-Peng Liang, and Pin-Yu Chu
7. Colombia BIT 2007 Survey Results — General Report
   Peter Romero Cruz, Ana Marta Trimmiño Villa, Juan José Valdivieso, Lina María Gómez, and Yenny García Ortiz

PART II — ECONOMIC STRUCTURE AND GNP STUDIES

8. Size and Structure of the Colombian Information Economy
   Peter Romero Cruz, Ana Marta Trimmiño Villa, Juan José Valdivieso, Lina María Gómez, Yenny García Ortiz, Jaime Sierra, Jesús Perdomo, Marisela Vargas, and Florentino Malaver

9. Size and Structure of the Information Economy in Taiwan
   Ya-Ching Lee and Pin-Yu Chu

    Min Choi, Hosun Rhim, and Kwangtae Park

11. Size and Structure of the Information and Communication Technologies Sector in Spain
    Marisol Pérez

12. Size, Structure, and Growth of the Chilean Information Economy
    Diego Avilés, Sergio Godoy, and Marcos Sepúlveda

PART III — SECTOR AND TECHNOLOGY STUDIES

13. Technology Supply and Service Chains: The RFID Adoption Decision
    Prashant Chaudhary, Gilbert Huang, Jean Sun, Kenya Takekura, and Derek Zu

    Alfredo Biffi and Francesco Sacco
Contents

15. Impact of IT on Healthcare: Development of a Nationwide Health Information Network

Markus Andersen, Fernando Hasenberg, Claudio Inglesi, Shahab Lahooti, and Rich Simmons

437

16. When Information Technology is not Enough to Improve the Competitiveness of a Noninformation-Based Economy: Evidence from Italy

Paolo Neivrotti and Emilio Paolucci

501

17. Destination Networks in Heritage Tourism: The “Albergo Diffuso” Formula

Andreina Mandelli and La Rocca Antonella

535

Index

557