How the Economy Works
Confidence, Crashes and Self-Fulfilling Prophecies

ROGER E. A. FARMER

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
2010
Contents

Preface xi

CHAPTER 1  Introduction i
The Collapse of Northern Rock  1
Classical and Keynesian Economics  3
The Size of Government  5
Efficient Markets  6
The Roaring Twenties  8
The Great Depression  10
Stagflation  12
Why Fiscal Policy Is the Wrong Approach  15
What Governments Should Do Instead  17
A New Paradigm and a New Policy  18

CHAPTER 2  Classical Economics  21
How the Economic Pieces Fit Together  24
Do Markets Work Well?  28
A Mark, a Yen, a Buck, or a Pound . . .  32
. . . Is All That Makes the World Go
Around  33
Helicopter Ben  34
Economic Frictions  36
CHAPTER 3  The Impact of Keynes on the World Economy 39
Maynard Keynes’s New Vision 40
Unemployment during the Great Depression 41
Keynes’s Escape from Classical Economics 43
Keynesian Theory 44
Keynesian Policy 46

CHAPTER 4  Where the Keynesians Lost Their Way 49
Keynes’s Theory of Prices 51
Bill Phillips and His Machine 52
Bill Phillips and His Curve 52
Two American Keynesians 54
The Natural Rate Hypothesis 57
The Bell Tolls for Bill Phillips’s Curve 60
Natural Rate Theory: Fact or Fiction? . . . 61
. . . Science or Religion? 62

CHAPTER 5  The Rational Expectations Revolution 65
Bob Lucas and Economic Policy 66
The French Influence 68
How Lucas Changed Macroeconomics
Forever 70
Real Business Cycle Theory 72
New-Keynesian Economics 75
Quantity Theorists in Keynesian Clothes 78

CHAPTER 6  How Central Banks Impact Your Life 81
Who Owns the Fed? 82
Money Makes the World Go Around 83
The Modern Fed 84
Fighting Inflation 86
Fighting Unemployment 87
Why Inflation Matters 88
CONTENTS

The Great Moderation 89
The Role of Good Luck 91
Minsky Moments 92
In Defense of Central Banks 93
The Future of Central Banking 94

Chapter 7 Why Unemployment Persists 97
Putting Unemployment Back into the Classical Model 98
Why This Didn’t Work: Shimer’s Puzzle 99
Is Unemployment Optimal? 100
Sand in the Oil 101
Why Search Markets Don’t Work Well 103
Why High Unemployment Exists 104
Why the Wage Doesn’t Fall 104
Classical and Keynesian Uses of Search Theory 106

Chapter 8 Why the Stock Market Matters to You 109
Do Fundamentals Drive Markets? 110
. . . Or Does Confidence Drive Markets? 111
Who Is Right? 112
Swings in Confidence Are Rational 113
Behavioral Economics or Rational Choice? 115
Wealth Matters 117
Where Keynesian Economists Went Wrong 118
Where Classical Economists Went Wrong 119
Stopping a Stampede 120

Chapter 9 Will There Be Another Great Depression? 123
Two Black Mondays 124
Greenspan the Wizard 126
The 2008 Crash 127
Housing and Stocks: Twin Peaks 128
Deregulation and Accounting Rules 130
The End of Glass-Steagall 131
Fair Value Accounting 132
Was Deregulation to Blame? 132
Illiquidity or Insolvency? 133
What Will Happen Next? 134

Chapter 10
Will Monetary and Fiscal Policy Work? 137
Traditional Monetary Policy 138
Quantitative Easing 139
Bernanke’s Plan 140
What Central Bankers Think 142
When the Bubble Bursts 142
Obama, Brown, and Sarkozy 144
Christina Romer’s Magic Multiplier . . . Is It Really That Big? 144
Learning from the Great Depression 146
The First Stage of Recovery 147
The Second Stage of Recovery 148
Two Reasons for Government Deficits 149
Do We Need a Bigger Government? 150
Will the Stimulus Restore Confidence? 151
Give Me a One-Armed Economist 151

Chapter 11
How to Solve a Financial Crisis 153
What Happened in 2008 154
Adding a New Policy Lever 155
Indices and Index Funds 156
A Plan to Prevent Bubbles and Crashes 158
Setting Up a Fund 159
Pulling the Lever 160