Contents

Foreword vii
Joshua Bloom

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction 1
Ruth Milkman

PART I Worker Centers, Ethnic Communities, and Immigrant Rights Advocacy

1 The Koreatown Immigrant Workers Alliance: Spatializing Justice in an Ethnic “Enclave” 23
Jong Bum Kwon

2 Organizing Workers along Ethnic Lines: The Pilipino Workers’ Center 49
Nazgol Ghandnoosh

3 Alliance-Building and Organizing for Immigrant Rights: The Case of the Coalition for Humane Immigrant Rights of Los Angeles 71
Caitlin C. Patler
4 Building Power for “Noncitizen Citizenship”: A Case Study of the Multi-Ethnic Immigrant Workers Organizing Network  89
   Chinyere Osuji

PART II  Occupational and Industry-Focused Organizing Campaigns

5 The Los Angeles Taxi Workers Alliance  109
   Jacqueline Leavitt and Gary Blasi

6 From Legal Advocacy to Organizing: Progressive Lawyering and the Los Angeles Car Wash Campaign  125
   Susan Garea and Sasha Alexandra Stern

7 NDLO and the History of Day Labor Organizing in Los Angeles  141
   Maria Dziembowska

8 The Garment Worker Center and the “Forever 21” Campaign  154
   Nicole A. Archer, Ana Luz Gonzalez, Kimi Lee, Simmi Gandhi, and Delia Herrera

PART III  Unions and Low-Wage Worker Organizing

9 Ally to Win: Black Community Leaders and SEIU’s L. A. Security Unionization Campaign  167
   Joshua Bloom

10 From the Shop to the Streets: UNITE HERE Organizing in Los Angeles Hotels  191
   Forrest Stuart

11 The Janitorial Industry and the Maintenance Cooperation Trust Fund  211
   Karina Muñiz

Afterword  233
   Victor Narro

Notes  245

References  265

Contributors  283

Index  287