Financial Crises and Recession in the Global Economy

Third Edition

Roy E. Allen

Professor of Economics, School of Economics and Business Administration, Saint Mary's College of California, USA

Edward Elgar
Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA
Contents

Figures vii
Tables viii
Preface and Acknowledgements for the Third Edition ix
Introduction xi

1. Financial Globalization Since the 1970s 1
   I. The Rapid Expansion of International Finance, 1970– 2
   II. The Global Information Revolution and Global Finance 7
   III. Governmental Deregulation and International Finance 11
   IV. Interest Rate and Financial Strategy Parities 16
   V. Saver and Dissaver Countries 27

2. Financial Instabilities and Trends in the 1980s 35
   I. New Transactions and Asset Demands for Money, 36
      and Monetary Velocity
   II. Financial Globalization and Monetary Velocity 41
   III. The Instability of the Income Velocity of Money in the US 44
   IV. The Instability of the Income Velocity of Money in Other 51
      Countries
   V. Case Study of US–Foreign Trade, 1981– 56
   VI. The 1982 Recessionary Period 62
   VII. The World Debt Crisis, 1982– 71
   VIII. The Stock Market Crash of 1987 78

Appendix Regressions of US (m1) Income Velocity of Money 84
   and Related Variables

3. Financial Instabilities and Trends in the 1990s 87
   I. The Early 1990s Recessionary Period 87
   II. The 1994–95 Mexican Crisis 97
   III. Japan’s Crisis, 1989– 100
   IV. Asia’s Crisis, 1997 103

4. The Current Crisis: Common Patterns and New Thinking 111
   I. Summary of the Current Crisis 113
   II. Common Patterns 116
Financial Crises and Recession in the Global Economy

III. New Thinking: On Psychological, Social, and 'Transcendental' Factors 119
IV. New Thinking: On Evolutionary and Complex Systems 123
V. Conclusions 129

5. Toward a New Political Economy of Financial Crisis 133
   I. Issues and Scope of a New Political Economy of Financial Crisis 136
   II. Recent US 'Money-Mercantilism' 137
   III. A Human Ecology Economics (HEE) Approach to Further Research 144
   IV. Different Kinds of Capital in the Human Ecology 150
   V. Conclusions 158

References 161
Index 169