THE COLONIAS READER

Economy, Housing, and Public Health in U.S.–Mexico Border Colonias

Edited by
Angela J. Donelson and Adrian X. Esparza

The University of Arizona Press Tucson
Contents

Introduction 1

Part I  Colonia Economies and Economic Development

1 The U.S.–Mexico Border Economy 15
   Oscar J. Martínez

2 Microbusiness in Texas Colonias 30
   Cecilia Giusti

3 Economic Development in New Mexico’s Colonias 44
   Robert Czerniak and David Hobstadt

4 Arizona’s Evolving Colonias Economy 57
   Vera Pavlakovich-Kochi and Adrian X. Esparza

5 Agricultural Prosperity, Rural Poverty, and California’s Colonias 72
   Vinit Mukhija

Part II  Housing and Community Development

6 Colonia Housing and Community Development 87
   Lydia Arizmendi, David Arizmendi, and Angela Donelson

7 Housing in Texas Colonias 101
   John Henneberger, Kristin Carlisle, and Karen Paup

8 Sustainable, Affordable Homeownership in Arizona and New Mexico Colonias 115
   Angela Donelson and Esperanza Holguín
9 Faith and Development in the Colonias of New Mexico and Arizona 133
David S. Henkel Jr.

10 Farmworkers, Housing, and California's Colonias 146
John Mealey

Part III Colonias Health and the Environment

11 Living Betwixt and Between: Conditions of Health in Borderland Colonias 163
Marlynn May

12 Colonias Health Issues in Texas 176
Sergio Peña and E. Lee Rosenthal

13 Social Justice and Health in Arizona Border Communities: The Community Health Worker Model 190
Samantha Sabo, Maia Ingram, and Ashley Wennerstrom

14 Urbanization and Environmental Health in Arizona Colonias 204
Laura Norman

15 Environmental Pollution and Quality of Life in Imperial Valley's Colonias 218
Kimberly Collins

Part IV Conclusion: Reflections and Directions

16 A Sustainability Praxis for the Future of Colonias Development and Colonias Studies 235
William D. Smith

Works Cited 247
About the Editors 277
About the Contributors 279
Index 285