<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section 2</th>
<th>Decision Making</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Aging-Related Changes in Decision Making</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ellen Peters</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Good Decision Making Is Fundamental to Maintenance of Independent Functioning</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dual Modes of Thinking and Their Impact on Decision Making</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Age Declines in Deliberative Processes, Including Numeracy</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Age-Related Compensatory Processes, Including Selectivity, Increased Experience, and Affective Processes</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Implications for Judgment and Decision Making</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Facilitating Better Decision Making</td>
<td>91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conclusion</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Acknowledgments</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| 5 | Do Workers Prepare Rationally for Retirement? | 103 |
| Gary Burtless | |
| Introduction | 103 |
| Planning the Retirement Age | 106 |
| Saving for Retirement | 114 |
| Allocation of Retirement Saving | 122 |
| Implications for Policy | 125 |
| Acknowledgments | 127 |
| References | 127 |

| 6 | New Choices, New Information: Do Choice Abundance and Information Complexity Hurt Aging Consumers’ Medical Decision Making? | 131 |
| Stacy L. Wood, Judith A. Shinogle, and Melayne M. McInnes | |
| Introduction | 131 |
Contents

Aging Consumers' Response to Complexity and Abundance in Health Care Decisions .................................................. 132
Good Strengths, Bad Weaknesses, and Ugly Decisions .................. 135
An Application to the Medicare Prescription Drug Plan ............... 138
Conclusion ........................................................................... 142
Acknowledgments ................................................................ 143
References ........................................................................... 143

7 The Aging Consumer and Intergenerational Transmission of Cherished Possessions .................................................... 149
Carolyn Folkman Curasi, Linda L. Price, and Eric J. Arnould
Introduction ......................................................................... 149
Intergenerational Transmission in Families ................................... 150
Research Activity ................................................................ 151
Findings ............................................................................... 152
Preserving Family Heirlooms ..................................................... 159
Guardianship ....................................................................... 163
Transmission and Inalienable Wealth ........................................... 166
Discussion ........................................................................... 168
Acknowledgments ................................................................ 170
References ........................................................................... 170

Section 3 Older Consumers in the Marketplace

8 Comprehension of Marketing Communications Among Older Consumers .............................................................. 175
Carolyn M. Bonifield and Catherine A. Cole
Introduction ......................................................................... 175
Background ......................................................................... 176
General Discussion ................................................................. 184
References ........................................................................... 186

9 Impact of Age on Brand Choice .................................................. 191
Raphaëlle Lambert-Pandraud and Gilles Laurent
Introduction ......................................................................... 191
Selected Results for Brand Choice and Choice Processes ............. 192
Possible Mechanisms ............................................................... 196
Questions for Further Research .............................................. 201
References ........................................................................... 205
10 Why Do Older Consumers Tell Us They Are More Satisfied? 209
Carolyn Yoon, Fred Feinberg, and Norbert Schwarz

Introduction .................................................. 209
Older and More Satisfied: Findings From the American
Customer Satisfaction Index .................................. 210
Explanations Based on Changes in External Factors ............. 217
Explanations Based on Age-Related Changes in the
Evaluation Process .............................................. 220
Explanations Based on Age-Related Changes in the Response Process ................................................ 222
Interactions, Heterogeneity, Person and Product Covariates .... 224
References ................................................................ 226

11 Age Branding .................................................. 229
Harry R. Moody and Sanjay Sood

Introduction ........................................................ 229
Age-Denial Brands .............................................. 230
Age-Adaptive Brands .......................................... 231
Age-Irrelevant Brands ......................................... 235
Age-Affirmative Brands ........................................ 238
Troubled Age Brands ........................................... 242
Conclusion: The Future of Age Branding ....................... 245
References ................................................................ 245

12 Designing Products for Older Consumers: A Human
Factors Perspective ............................................. 249
Neil Charness, Michael Champion, and Ryan Yordon

Introduction ........................................................ 249
Human Factors Framework for Product Use ....................... 250
Functional Capabilities and Aging ............................... 252
Anthropometrics and Physical Fitness ............................ 255
Cognitive ............................................................ 255
Application of Knowledge About Aging ......................... 256
Ways to Design .................................................... 259
Summary .................................................................. 265
References ................................................................ 265

Author Index ......................................................... 269

Subject Index ......................................................... 283