international review of social history

Supplement 17

Ottoman and Republican Turkish Labour History

Edited by Touraj Atabaki and Gavin D. Brockett
CONTENTS

Ottoman and Republican Turkish Labour History

Edited by
Touraj Atabaki and Gavin D. Brockett

Notes on Contributors

Ottoman and Republican Turkish Labour History: An Introduction
Touraj Atabaki and Gavin D. Brockett

“Ottoman Street” in America: Turkish Leatherworkers in Peabody, Massachusetts
İşıl Ačeihan

Gendering Ottoman Labor History: The Cibali Régie Factory in the Early Twentieth Century
Gülbahar Balsoy

Working in a Fez Factory in Istanbul in the Late Nineteenth Century: Division of Labour and Networks of Migration Formed along Ethno-Religious Lines
Mustafa Erdem Kabadayı

Vertical Bazaars of Modernity: Western Department Stores and Their Staff in Istanbul (1889–1921)
Yavuz Kösė

Compulsory Mine Work: The Single-Party Regime and the Zonguldak Coalfield as a Site of Contention, 1940–1947
Nurşen Gürboğa

“Our Lives Were Not As Valuable As An Animal”: Workers in State-Run Industries in World-War-II Turkey
Can Nacar

The Dynamics of Working-Class Politics in Early Republican Turkey: Language, Identity, and Experience
Yiğit Akin

Epilogue
Donald Quataert