Towards a History of Consumption in South Asia

edited by

Douglas E. Haynes, Abigail McGowan, Tirthankar Roy, and Haruka Yanagisawa

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables vii

Acknowledgements ix

Introduction 1
Douglas E. Haynes and Abigail McGowan

1. The Consumption of British Manufactured Goods in India: A Prologue, 1765–1813 26
H.V. Bowen

2. Growth of Small-scale Industries and Changes in Consumption Patterns in South India, 1910s–50s 51
Haruka Yanagisawa

3. Consumption History of the Estado da India, 1850–1950 76
Remy Dias

4. Consumption, Domestic Economy, and the Idea of the ‘Middle Class’ in Late Colonial Bombay 108
Prashant Kidambi

5. At Home in the World: Cinema and Cultures of the Young in Bombay in the 1920s 136
Kaushik Bhaumik
vi Contents

6. Consuming Families: Negotiating Women's Shopping in Early Twentieth Century Western India 155
   ABIGAIL McGOWAN

7. Creating the Consumer? Advertising, Capitalism, and the Middle Class in Urban Western India, 1914–40 185
   DOUGLAS E. HAYNES

8. Honour, Desire, and Fashion: Textile Consumption in Northwest India and Pakistan 224
   MICHELLE MASKIELL

9. Of Soaps and Scents: Corporeal Cleanliness in Urban Colonial India 246
   HARMINDER KAUR

10. Consumption and Craftsmanship in India, 1870–1940 268
    TIRTHANKAR ROY

Notes on Contributors 299