Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>List of tables</th>
<th>page vii</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Preface</td>
<td>ix</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1 Introduction 1

PART I ECONOMIC THEORY

2 The theory of a self-managed economy 11
   2.1 Assumptions and definitions 11
   2.2 Decision-making in the competitive self-managed firm 16
   2.3 General equilibrium effects 27
   2.4 The self-managed monopolist 31
   2.5 From theory to applied work 36
   Mathematical appendix to Chapter 2 38

3 The Yugoslav environment 43
   3.1 Introduction 43
   3.2 National characteristics 44
   3.3 The ‘legacies’ 53
   3.4 Economic environments since 1952 57
PART 2 YUGOSLAV PRACTICE

4 Yugoslav industrial structure
   4.1 Introduction 81
   4.2 Yugoslav industrial structure in 1958: the heritage 83
   4.3 Changes in industrial structure, 1958–72 87
   4.4 Overall concentration 102
   4.5 Summary and conclusions 105
   Appendix A: Yugoslav industrial structure 107

5 Some consequences of self-management
   5.1 Introduction 127
   5.2 Yugoslav earnings dispersion, 1956–75 129
   5.3 Incomes and capital–labour ratios 150
   5.4 Yugoslav industrial growth, 1952–73 152
   5.5 Summary 161
   Appendix B: Yugoslav earnings dispersion 164
   Appendix C: Yugoslav industrial growth 195

6 An explanation of Yugoslav income differentials
   6.1 Introduction 203
   6.2 The models 205
   6.3 Methods of estimation 209
   6.4 Estimating the models 216
   6.5 Summary 225
   Appendix D: earnings dispersion equations 227

7 Conclusions 242

Notes 245
Bibliography 253
Yugoslav Bibliography 258
Index 263