

The Worldwide Making of the Social Economy

Innovations and Changes

*Jacques Defourny, Patrick Develtere,
Bénédicte Fonteneau, Marthe Nyssens (eds.)*

Acco Leuven / Den Haag

Table of contents

Introduction	11
Jacques Defourny, Patrick Develtere, Bénédicte Fonteneau and Marthe Nyssens	11
Innovations and changes	12
Structure of the reader	12
1. The Social Economy: The Worldwide Making of a Third Sector	15
Jacques Defourny and Patrick Develtere
Introduction	15
1. Sources of the social economy	16
1.1 The association, a phenomenon as old as society itself	16
1.2 The ideological pluralism of the social economy in the XIX century	18
1.3 The range of religious influences	19
1.4 The forces of nationalism and the quest for a third way	20
1.5 The cultural entrenchment of the social economy	21
1.6 The complexion of a society is constantly changing	21
2. A contemporary definition of the social economy	22
2.1 The legal and institutional approach	22
2.2 The normative approach	26
2.3 Social economy or non-profit sector?	28
3. Conditions for developing the social economy	32
3.1 The social economy, child of necessity	32
3.2 The condition of necessity in the South	32
3.3 The condition of necessity in the North	33
3.4. Collective identity and shared destiny	34
3.5 Community forces in the South	35
3.6 What are the mobilising forces in the North?	36
Conclusion	37
Bibliography	38
2. Measuring The Social Economy in the Framework of the National Accounts	41
Sybillie Mertens
Introduction	41

1.	The central role of national accounts	42
2.	The solution of satellite accounts	43
3.	Methodological developments at the international level	44
3.1	The UN Non-profit Handbook (Johns Hopkins University)	44
3.2	The European Commission Manual (CIRIEC)	49
4.	Contributions and perspectives	51
	Bibliography	52

3. Market Failure, Coffee Cooperatives and Sustainable Labelling – The Case Of Chiapas, Mexico 55

Anna Milford

	Introduction	55
1.	Coffee and Mexico	56
2.	The nature of a local coffee market, with Chiapas as an example	57
2.1	Labour intensive production and small scale producers	58
2.2	Export and oligopsony	58
2.3	Harvest once a year and the need for credit	59
3.	Theories of a private oligopsony	60
3.1	Monopsony/cartel	61
3.2	Oligopsony with competition	62
4.	The potential benefits of cooperatives	62
5.	Brief history of coffee cooperatives in Chiapas	63
6.	Coffee cooperatives and Fair Trade and organic labeling	64
6.1	Organic production and labelling	64
6.2	Fairtrade labelling	65
7.	The economic and political influence of coffee cooperatives in Chiapas	66
7.1	The local coffee purchasing market in Chiapas	66
7.2	Imperfect competition	67
7.3	Influence of coffee cooperatives on private purchasers	69
7.4	Empowerment and the political influence of the cooperatives	70
8.	The influence of Fair Trade and organic labelling	71
8.1	The collective action problem	72
8.2	Costs of control	73
8.3	Investments and the horizon problem	75
8.4	Market access	76
8.5	Finance	76
9.	Sustainable labelling versus governmental or NGO support	78
9.1	The Samaritan's dilemma	79
9.2	Dependency	80
9.3	The top down approach	81
9.4	Labelling and overproduction	82
	Conclusion	83
6	Bibliography	84

4. The Community-Based Model: Mutual Health Organisations in Africa	87
Bénédicte Fonteneau and Bruno Galland
Introduction	87
1. What is a community-based model?	88
1.1 Essential features	88
1.2 Consequential features	90
2. Why was/is this approach implemented in West Africa?	91
3. What is the target group of the community-based model?	92
4. Do MHOs function (well) and make a significant impact?	93
4.1 Do MHOs function (well)?	94
4.2 Are MHOs making a significant impact?	98
5. What are the origins of the problems?	99
5.1 Context-related problems	100
5.2 Model-related problems	101
5.3 External support-related problems and limits	102
6. What is the added value of this model?	104
Conclusion	105
Bibliography	105
5. Evidence on the Social and Economic Impact of Microcredit on the Poor	107
Patrick Develtere and An Huybrechts
Introduction	107
1. Genesis, organisation and practice: an overview	108
2. Economic impact of Grameen Bank and BRAC	110
2.1 Economic impact assessment: a controversial issue	110
2.2 Problems in reaching the poorest: valid criticism?	114
3. Social impact of Grameen Bank and BRAC	117
3.1 Micro-credits: emancipating women?	117
3.2 Impact of credit on emancipation of women: a positive evaluation	119
3.3 Impact of credit on emancipation of women: a negative evaluation	121
3.4 Positive or negative impact of credit on emancipation of women: a critical comparison	122
4. Influence of micro-credits on society	123
4.1 Effects on non-member villagers	123
4.2 In confrontation with existing systems?	124
4.3 Cooperation and co-existence	125
Conclusion	126
Bibliography	127
6. Imagination and Identity: The Social Economy and the State in Canada	129
Brett Fairbairn
Introduction	129

1. Definitions	130
2. The situation in Québec	133
3. The situation in the rest of Canada prior to 2004	135
4. The Martin (Liberal) government and the social economy, 2004-2006	139
5. Changes of government	141
6. The social economy in a Conservative state	144
Conclusions	146
Bibliography	148

7. Third Sector Policy Communities in Europe: A Comparison of the UK, The Netherlands and Sweden 149

Taco Brandsen, Jeremy Kendall, Marie Nordfeldt and Lars-Erik Olsson

Introduction	149
1. Theoretical approach and methods	150
1.1 Theoretical approach	150
1.2 Methodology	152
2. Third sector policy communities in the UK, the Netherlands and Sweden	152
2.1 The third sector policy community in the UK	152
2.2 The third sector policy community in the Netherlands	154
2.3 The third sector policy community in Sweden	155
3. Historical analysis	157
3.1 Historical developments in the UK	157
3.2 Historical developments in the Netherlands	159
3.3 Historical developments in Sweden	161
Conclusion: explaining national variation	162
Bibliography	164

8. The Relationship between Solidarity Economy and State in Latin America: Contrasting Dynamics in Brazil and Venezuela 167

Andreia Lemaitre and Madeleine Richer

Introduction	167
1. Venezuela and the proactive policy of Chavez	168
1.1 The construction of the solidarity economy sector in Venezuela	169
1.2 A new development model based on participative democracy and social inclusion: main measures in support of the social economy	172
2. Brazil and the rise of claims of the solidarity economy movement into government	176
2.1 The construction of the solidarity economy movement in Brazil	176
2.2 The social movement	184
3. Comparative reflections and implications: the prospects for the development of a solidarity economy sector	185
Bibliography	188

9. Renaissance of African Cooperatives in the 21th Century: Lessons from the Field	191
Patrick Develtere and Ignace Pollet
Introduction	191
Methodology	192
1. The cooperative sector in Africa: extent, structure, vibrancy	193
1.1 The extent of the cooperative sector: figures and tendencies	193
1.2 African cooperatives and cooperators in international networks	196
2. Structure and integration of the cooperative sector	197
3. The basic thrusts of the African cooperative sector	202
3.1 Client-owned agricultural cooperatives dominate in numbers	202
3.2 Savings and credit cooperatives dominate in financial strength	203
3.3 A myriad of other cooperatives	204
4. Membership of African cooperatives: where are the poor and the women?	206
5. The vibrancy of African cooperatives	209
5.1 Cooperatives are associations	209
5.2 Cooperatives as businesses	210
5.3 The governance nexus	211
5.4 External patrons	211
6. The role of external patrons: governments and donors	212
6.1 Legislation	212
7. Policy issues	214
8. Where do donors fit in?	217
9. Significance of cooperatives for African societies	218
9.1 Significance of cooperatives for employment	218
9.2 Significance of cooperatives for poverty reduction	220
10. Cooperatives and the extension of social protection	221
11. Voice and representation	223
Conclusion	225
Bibliography	227
10. A Start for Mild Liberalization? Building Civil Society through Cooperative Dynamics in China	231
Li Zhao
Introduction	231
1. Development and current situation of civil society in China	233
2. The logic of the dynamics of cooperatives in China	235
2.1 Initial conditions	237
2.2 Critical juncture	239
2.3 Sorting out stage	243
2.4 Final outcomes	247
Conclusion	248
Bibliography	249

11. The Problematic Contribution of the Revival Churches toward Sustainable Development in DR Congo 253

Sylvain Shomba Kynyamba

Introduction 253

1. The current revival church landscape in the DR Congo 254

 1.1 Health issues 256

 1.2 Social issues 256

 1.3 Awarding the status of legal entity to a newly formed church 257

2. Socio-economic impact of the revival churches 258

 2.1 What is the Ministry of Spiritual Warfare? 258

 2.2 Mission and aim 259

 2.3 Its geographical scope 260

 2.4 The legal framework 260

3. Contribution of the revival churches in the socio-economic domain: Ministry of Spiritual Warfare 260

4. Management of funds that are collected 262

Conclusion 262

Bibliography 263

12. Social Enterprise: The Shaping of a New Concept in a Comparative Regional Perspective 265

Jacques Defourny and Marthe Nyssens

Introduction 265

1. Backgrounds of the debate 266

 1.1 The European context 266

 1.2 A brief overview of the US context 270

 1.3 A first EU-US comparative perspective 272

2. Toward a conceptualization of social enterprise and social entrepreneurship 273

 2.1 European policies promoting social enterprise 273

 2.2 The EMES approach of social enterprise 276

 2.3 The US conceptual debate 278

3. Convergences and divergences between the European and US debates 281

 3.1 The social mission 281

 3.2 The production of goods and services and their relation to the social mission 282

 3.3 Economic risks 282

 3.4 The structure of governance 283

 3.5 Channels for the diffusion of social innovation 286

Conclusions 287

Bibliography 289