Contents

List of tables and figures xi
List of contributors xii
Acknowledgement xvi
Preface xvii

PART I
China, Africa and international development 1

1 Africa and China: a new kind of development partnership 3
   CHRISTOPHER M. DENT (UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS)

2 China-Africa relations and the European Union: ideology, conditionality, realpolitik and what is new in South-South co-operation 21
   UWE WISSENBACH (EUROPEAN COMMISSION)

3 China and the geo-political imagination of African 'development' 42
   MARCUS POWER (UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM)
   AND GILES MOHAN (OPEN UNIVERSITY)

4 Chinese soft power, insecurity studies, myopia and fantasy 68
   SHOGO SUZUKI (UNIVERSITY OF MANCHESTER)

PART II
Country case study perspectives 85

5 The end of abstraction: China's development relations with Sudan 87
   DANIEL LARGE (SCHOOL OF ORIENTAL AND AFRICAN STUDIES)
Contents

6  Chinese development co-operation and Africa: the case of Tembisa's Friendship Town  03
CHRIS ALDEN (LONDON SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS)
AND ANNA YING CHEN (SOUTH AFRICAN INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS)

PART in
Resource sector perspectives  119

7  China's structural demand and commodity prices: implications for Africa  121
MASUMA FAROOKI (OPEN UNIVERSITY)

8  China's energy diplomacy in Africa: the convergence of national and corporate interests  143
CHI ZHANG (UNIVERSITY OF NOTTINGHAM)

PART IV
Conclusion: China, Africa and development relations  163

9  China, Africa and conceptualising development relations  65
CHRISTOPHER M. DENT (UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS)

Index  181