      Organization-Based Decision Criteria for Policy Decisions 91

3 Cognitive Processes in Audience Decision Making 93

   Perception 98
      Readers' Perception of Text 98
      Listeners' Perception of Speech 101
      Viewers' Perception of Images and Graphs 101

   Attention 103
      Stimulus-Driven Attention 103
      Constraints on Auditory Attention 104
      Constraints on Visual Attention 106

   Sentence-Level Comprehension 107
      The Sentence Comprehension Process 107
      Readers' Comprehension 108
      Listeners' Comprehension 109
      Viewers' Comprehension 110

   Schema Activation 111
      Schema Activation in Decision Making and Text-Level Comprehension 111
      The Schema Activation Process 113
      Consequences of Faulty Schema Activation 114
Information Acquisition

The Process of Filling Schema Slots 115
Targeted versus General Search 115
Attribute-Based versus Alternative-Based Search 118
The Audience's Preference for Attribute-Based Search 119
Constraints on the Search Process 121

Information Integration

The Conversion of Cardinal Numbers into Ordinal Numbers and Scale Values 122
Compensatory versus Non-Compensatory Choice Rules 122
Constraints on the Use of Compensatory Choice Rules 123

4 Aids to Audience Decision Making 125

Aids to Perception

Legible Characters 128
High Contrast Between Type and Background 128
Eleven-Point Type Size for Documents, 24 for Slides 129
Lower-Case Letters 129
Legible Typeface 129
Ten to 12 Words per Line 132
Some Space Between Lines 132
Unjustified Right Margins 132
Short, Familiar Words 133
Visible Speakers 133
Prosody, Intonation, and Articulation 133
Picture Elements in Context 133
Graphs with Easy-to-Discriminate Symbols 134

Aids to Attention

Images, Charts, and Diagrams 134
White Space 135
Prominent Size and Placement 135
Titles and Section Headings 135
Color Coding and Boldface 138
Personal Mystery Information 138
The Verbal Style of the Powerful 139
Spoken versus Written Messages 139
Vocal Variety and Speed 139
Expressive Nonverbal Behaviors 140
Color Images and 3-D Effects 140

Aids to Sentence-Level Comprehension

Short Words and Sentences 141
Simple Sentence Structure 142
Parallel Sentence Structure 142
Active Voice in Most Cases 143
Passive Voice in Some Cases 144
Concrete Words 145
Sentences in the Affirmative 145
Easy-to-Identify Referents 146
Repetition of Concepts within Paragraphs 146
Pictorial Illustrations 147
Speakers' Nonverbal Behaviors 147
Labeled Plot Lines in Graphs 148
The Elimination of Unnecessary Graphic Elements 148

Aids to Schema Activation 148
Titles 148
Section Headings 149
Topic Sentences at the Beginning of Paragraphs 149
An Introductory Decision Matrix 150
Initial Contextual Information 150
Genre Labels 150
Captions for Images 151

Aids to Information Acquisition 154
Task-Based Section Headings 154
Task-Based Formats 154
Task-Based Organization 155
Attribute-Based Organization for Decision Making 158
Aids to Group Information Acquisition and Critical Thinking 160

Aids to Information Integration 162
A Limited Number of Alternatives 162
A Slightly Larger Number of Attributes 162
The Complete Set of Slot Values for Each Alternative 163
Comparable Slot Values 164
The Right Graph for the Comparison 164
The Elimination of Irrelevant and Inconsistent Information 164

Part II Understanding Intuitive Decision Making 169

5 Heuristics and Biases in Audience Decision Making 171

Perception-Related Heuristics and Biases 175
The Perceptual Fluency Heuristic 175
Legibility Effects: The Intuitive Appeal of Easy-to-See Messages 177
Visibility Effects: The Intuitive Appeal of Easy-to-See Images 177
Audibility Effects: The Appeal of Easy-to-Hear Messages 178
Euphonious Sound Effects: The Appeal of Melodious Messages 178
Repetition Effects: The Appeal of the Familiar 178

Attention-Related Heuristics and Biases 179
The Vividness and Salience Heuristics 179
Vivid Language Effects: The Persuasive Impact of Concrete Words 180
Vivid Picture Effects: The Persuasive Impact of Images 180
Vivid Modality Effects: The Persuasive Impact of Speech and Video 181

Outlier Effects: The Impact of Unusual Behaviors and Events 181
Immediacy Effects: The Impact of Recent Trends and Events 186
Physical Salience Effects: The Persuasive Impact of Standing Out 187
Comprehension-Related Heuristics and Biases 188
The Representativeness and Causality Heuristics 188
Base-Rate Neglect: The Intuitive Appeal of Anecdotal Evidence 189
Sample-Size Insensitivity: The Intuitive Appeal of Examples 190
The Causality Bias: The Appeal of Narratives and Stories 191
Syntactic and Semantic Effects: The Appeal of Simple Sentences 192
Written Modality Effects: The Power of the Written Word 192
Schema Activation-Related Heuristics and Biases 193
The Schema Accessibility Heuristic 193
Framing Effects: The Power of Spin 194
Framing Effects: The Power of Analogy 201
The Self-Serving Bias: The Power of Roles 202
Priming Effects: The Power of Subtle Influences 202
Primacy Effects: The Power of Being First to Frame an Issue 204
Information Acquisition-Related Heuristics and Biases 204
The Anchoring and Availability Heuristics 204
Insufficient Adjustment: The Power of Easily Acquired Information 205
The Recall Bias: The Power of Easily Recalled Information 206
The Imagination Bias: The Power of Easily Imagined Information 207
Undue Optimism: The Power of Positive Information 207
The Confirmation Bias: The Power of Previously Acquired Information 207
The Confirmation Bias in Groups 208
The Common Knowledge Effect in Groups 209
Information Integration-Related Heuristics and Biases 210
Heuristic Choice Rules 210
Trade-off Avoidance: The Impact of a Dominant Attribute 211
The Mere Quantity Effect: The Impact of a Seemingly Dominant Alternative 212
The Common Dimension Effect: The Impact of Direct Comparisons 213
The Asymmetric Dominance Effect: The Impact of a Third Option 214
The Limited Options Bias: The Appeal of Yes or No Choices 214
The Status Quo Bias: The Appeal of Past Decisions 215

6 Person Perception in Audience Decision Making 217

The Impact of Person Perception on Decision Making 218
Person Perception and Voters' Decisions 218
Person Perception and Recruiters' Decisions 219
Person Perception and Job Applicants' Decisions 219
Person Perception and Analysts' Decisions 219
Person Perception and the Decisions of Speakers' Audiences 220
Role Schemata of Expert Audiences 220
  Decision Criteria in Role Schemata  220
  Benchmarks in Role Schemata  221
  Audience Expectations about Professionals Playing their Roles  222
Types of Role Schemata  222
  Occupation Schemata: How Audiences Evaluate Professionals  222
  Leader Schemata: How Audiences Evaluate Leaders  223
  Applicant Schemata: How Recruiters Evaluate Job Applicants  225
  Speaker Schemata: How Audiences Evaluate Speakers  227
Cognitive Processes in Person Perception  228
  Perception of Professionals' Trait-Related Behaviors  230
  Perception of Professionals' Emotion-Related Behaviors  232
  Attention to Professionals and their Behaviors  235
  Comprehension of Professionals' Traits and Emotions  237
  Activation of Role Schemata  238
  Acquisition of Behavioral and Trait Information  239
  Integration of Behavioral and Trait Information  240
Biases in Person Perception  241
  The Attractiveness Bias: The Persuasive Appeal of Good Looks  241
  The Status Bias: The Persuasive Appeal of High Status  242
  The Confidence Bias: The Persuasive Appeal of Confidence  243
  The Likeability Bias: The Persuasive Appeal of Friendliness  244
  The Similarity Bias: The Persuasive Appeal of Similarity  244
  The Salience Bias: The Persuasive Appeal of Standing Out  245
  Cognitive Centrality: The Power of Knowing what Others Know  245

Part III  Understanding Emotional Decision Making  247

7  Emotions in Audience Decision Making  249

The Impact of Emotions on Decision Making  251
  Emotional Decisions versus Rational Decisions  251
  The Positive Impact of Emotions on Decision Making  253
  The Negative Impact of Emotions  253
  The Impact of Emotional Deficits  254
