Economics of Sustainable Tourism

Edited by Fabio Cerina, Anil Markandya and Michael McAleer
Contents

List of figures vii
List of tables viii
Notes on contributors x

The economics of sustainable tourism: an overview 1
FABIO CERINA, ANIL MARKANDYA AND MICHAEL McALEER

PART I
Tourism demand and the host community 7

1 Time series modelling of tourism demand from the United States, Japan and Malaysia to Thailand 9
YAOVARATE CHAOVANAPPOONPHOL, CHRISTINE LIM, MICHAEL McALEER AND AREE WIBOONPONGSE

2 Determinants of tourist satisfaction at sun and sand mass destinations 24
JOAQUÍN ALEGRE MARTÍN AND JAUME GARAU TABERNER

3 Determinant attitudes to tourism in a mass tourist destination: a comparative-static analysis 41
EUGENI AGUILÓ PÉREZ AND JAUME ROSSELLÓ NADAL

4 A panel data analysis of residential water demand in a Mediterranean tourist region: the case of Sardinia 58
VANIA STATZU AND ELISABETTA STRAZZERA
PART II
Tourism and productivity

5 Pollution-averse tourists and growth
FABIO CERINA AND SAUVEUR GIANNONI

6 On the relationship between tourism and trade
MARÍA SANTANA GALLEGO, FRANCISCO J. LEDESMA RODRÍGUEZ AND
JORGE V. PÉREZ RODRÍGUEZ

7 Evaluating labour productivity of diversifying rural tourism:
evidence from Japan
YASUO OHE

PART III
Sustainable tourism: environment and cultural heritage conservation

8 Clustering tourism destinations by means of composite indices of sustainability
JUAN IGNACIO PULIDO FERNÁNDEZ AND MARCELINO SÁNCHEZ RIVERO

9 Equilibrium dynamics and local indeterminacy in a model of sustainable tourism
GIOVANNI BELLA

10 How tourism can help preserve cultural heritage sites:
constructing optimal entrance fee schemes to collect visitors’ WTP for the World Heritage Site My Son in Vietnam
TRAN HUU TUAN, NGUYEN VAN PHAT AND STÅLE NAVRUD

The economics of sustainable tourism: summary and suggestions for future research
FABIO CERINA, ANIL MARKANDYA AND MICHAEL McALEER

Index