The Interface of Business and Culture
Table of Contents

General Introduction:
The Influence of Stereotyping on Consumer Behavior
Michael B. Hinner ................................................................. 17

A Contemporary Conceptualization of Ethnocentrism
James W. Neuliep ................................................................. 47

Business Goals and Corporate Governance
Geert Hofstede ................................................................. 63

A Case Study in Intercultural Management Communication:
Icelandic Managers and French, Spanish, and Indian Employees
Erla S. Kirstjánsdóttir and Judith N. Martin ........................................ 81

Managing Diversity in Higher Education in Response to Internationalization and Globalization: Implications for University Leaders
Ming-Yi Wu ................................................................. 121

Performance Appraisal in Hong Kong Subsidiaries versus Their U.S. Parent Companies: Culture, Communication, and Appraisal Effectiveness
Vivian C. Sheer and Guo-Ming Chen ........................................ 137

Updating Face Negotiation in Cross-Cultural Conflict through
Examining Multilevel Influences on Culture
Yea-Wen Chen, Courtney Fletcher, and John Oetzel ......................... 159

Navigating Silences in International Business Contexts
Kris Acheson ................................................................. 187

The Cultural Antecedents to Japanese and U.S. Negotiation Styles
Edwin R. Mc Daniel ................................................................. 221
The Great Cultural Divide in International Business Communication: High and Low Context Communication
Tadasu Todd Imahori ................................................................. 245

(Re)constructions of the Self & Others: Peeling Back Layers of Identity, Context, and Power in Intercultural Tourism Interactions
Sundae R. Bean ................................................................. 267

Testing Key Hypotheses about U.S. Hispanic Consumer Behavior: Marketing-Assumptions or Reality?
Carlos Valdez, Felipe Korzenny, and Holly McGavock .................................................. 317

Traditional Chinese Value Orientations: Contemporary Manifestations of Indigenous Constructs
Ling Chen ................................................................. 341

Cultural Ideals in Chinese Malaysians' Discourse of Dissatisfaction
Ee Lin Lee and Bradford J. Hall .................................................. 365

Taiwan's TV Facing Transnational Media: The Battle between Indigenous Culture and Global Hybrid Culture
Junhao Hong and Ho-Chun Li .................................................. 391

Effect of Culture-Congruent Visuals on Affect, Perception, and Purchase Intention - A Comparison of U.S. and Chinese Viewers
Shuhua Zhou, Jie Xu, Yinjiao Ye, and Peiqin Zhou .................................................. 425

Communication Technology as an Extension of the Self in the U.S. and Germany: A Cross-Cultural Study Linking People's Associations with Technology to Their Symbolic Proximity with Others
Arun Vishwanath and Hao Chen .................................................. 447

Listener as Producer: Minga Perú's Intercultural Radio Educative Project in the Peruvian Amazon
Lucia Durá, Arvind Singhal, and Eliana Elias .................................................. 481

Factors Contributing to Cross-Cultural Adaptation of Mainland Students in Hong Kong: Testing a Dynamic Model
Juana Du ................................................................. 503
Intercultural Adjustment Training: A Proposed Model and Sample Application Tool
Hiromi Motozuka and Stella Ting-Toomey ................................................. 527

Intercultural Personhood: Globalization and a Way of Thinking
Young Yun Kim ..................................................................................... 563