Contents

List of contributors  vii
Acknowledgements  xiii

1 The changing face of work and employment relations  1
Adrian Wilkinson and Keith Townsend

PART I  EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS THEORY

2 The future of employment relations: insights from theory  13
Bruce E. Kaufman

3 Finding the future in the past? The social philosophy of Oxford industrial relations pluralism  45
Peter Ackers

PART II  ACTORS

4 The state and employment relations  69
Jason Heyes and Ian Clark

5 Union strategy and circumstance: back to the future and forward to the past?  91
Gregor Gall

6 Concerted capital: understanding employer interests and the role of employer coordination in contemporary employment relations  111
Michael Barry

7 New and emerging actors in work and employment relations: the case of civil society organizations  130
Steve Williams, Brian Abbott and Edmund Heery

8 Employment relations and managerial work: an international perspective  150
John Hassard, Leo McCann and Jonathan Morris
vi  Contents

PART III  RETHINKING LABOUR

9  Skills in the twenty-first-century organization: the career of a notion
Anne Fearfull and Martin Dowling  169

10  Working time in the employment relationship: working time, perceived control and work–life balance
Lonnie Golden, Barbara Wiens-Tuers, Susan J. Lambert and Julia R. Henly  188

11  Migration and labour markets: an interpretation of the literature
Tom Lusis and Harald Bauder  212

12  Child labor
Scott Lyon and Furio Rosati  230

PART IV  CHANGING CONTEXTS

13  Flexicurity: still going strong or a victim of the crisis?
Peter Auer and Kazutoshi Chatani  253

14  Governance, finance and employment relations
Geoffrey Wood  279

15  Employment relations and corporate social responsibility
Steve Brammer  296

16  Industrial relations in China: ball of confusion?
E. Patrick McDermott  319

PART V  TOWARDS A FAIRER WORKPLACE?

17  Equity in the twenty-first-century workplace
Glenda Strachan, John Burgess and Erica French  345

18  Dimensions of dignity: defining the future of work
Sharon Bolton  370

19  Justice in the twenty-first-century organization
Jacqueline Coyle-Shapiro and Rashpal K. Dhensa  385

Index  405