Social Entrepreneurship
Business Models

Incentive Strategies to Catalyze Public Goods Provision

Katharina Sommerrock
Contents

List of Figures ix
List of Tables x
Foreword by André Habisch xi
Acknowledgements xii
List of Abbreviations xiv

PART I INTRODUCTION
   Prologue 3
   1 Introduction 7
      Motivation and objectives 7
      Classification in the philosophy of science, and research strategy 10
      Course of investigation 13

PART II THE SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP PHENOMENON
   2 Evolution and Context 21
      Origin and development 21
      Historic examples 22
      Growing demand and lack of solutions 23
      Improving conditions 25
      Positioning among the three sectors of society 27
      Evolution of the three sectors 27
      Positioning of social entrepreneurship 28
      Delimitation to other organizations 29
   3 Terminological Clarification 35
      Constitutive elements 36
      Entrepreneurship 36
      The social mission 41
PART IV SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURIAL STRATEGIES TO CATALYZE PUBLIC GOODS PROVISION

6 The Business Model as a Unit of Analysis 129
   Background to the business model concept 129
   Origin and current usage 129
   Conceptualization in the literature 130
   Adequacy of the business model as a unit of analysis 134
   Business model dimensions 135
       Overview of business model dimensions 136
       Dimensions of the social entrepreneurial business model 137

7 Individual Incentive Strategies 144
   Value proposition strategies 145
       Social value creation with target group 146
       Social value creation for target group 147
       Hybrid social value creation 148
   Product design and market definition strategies 149
       Product design 149
       Market definition 154
   Strategies for the internal value creation architecture 158

8 Resources 159
   Value chain 168
   Structure 169
   Growth 171
   Strategies for the external value creation architecture 173
   Customers 173
   Value creation partners 175

8 Clusters in individual incentive strategies 179
   Strategy clusters 179
   Similarities regarding the context 180

8 Incentive Strategies from a Holistic Perspective 188
   Methodological approach 188
       The case study as a qualitative empirical research method 188
Application of case study methodology 190
Methodological approach and application in this analysis 192
Case study analysis 196
Social value creation with target group: BISS eV 196
Social value creation for target group: Phulki 209
Hybrid value creation: Adopt-a-Business Ltd 221

PART V CONCLUSIONS AND IMPLICATIONS

9 Conclusions and Implications 245
Summary of results 245
Implications for research 252
Implications for practice 256

Appendix: Database of social entrepreneurial organizations 259
Bibliography 263
Index 281