CONTENTS

List of Figures vii
List of Tables ix
About the Contributors xi
Preface xiv

1. UK Energy Policy and Market Fundamentalism: a Historical Overview
   Ian Rutledge
   1

Part I: Upstream

2. A Requiem for the UK's Petroleum Fiscal Regime
   Juan Carlos Boué and Philip Wright
   39

3. Managing the UK's Remaining Oil and Gas Resources: a Future Role for the State?
   Peter Odell
   87

4. The Premature Demise of the British Coal Industry and the Future of Coal Consumption in the UK
   Jonathan Winterton and Philip Wright
   103

Part II: Midstream and Downstream

5. Gas Storage: a Case of Market Failure
   Jonathan Stern
   129

6. Wholesale Gas Markets: Conductors for Insecurities of Supply
   Philip Wright
   165

7. Electricity Generation and Wholesale Markets
   Dominic Maclaine
   183

   Ian Rutledge
   210
Part III: Market Fundamentalism and Future Challenges

9. Liberalisation and Fuel Poverty
   Brenda Boardman
   255

10. Can the Market Deliver Security and Environmental Protection in Electricity Generation?
    Malcolm Keay
    281

    Steve Thomas
    309

12. Liberalised Energy Markets: an Obstacle to Renewables?
    Robert Gross and Philip Heptonstall
    332

13. Energy Efficiency and Conservation in the UK: Missed Opportunities and Future Challenges
    Adrian Pitts
    356

    Matthew Simmons and Gareth Young
    379

15. From Liberalisation to Intervention: Europe, the UK, and the Changing Agenda
    David Buchan
    401

16. The Content and Delivery of Future UK Energy Policy
    Ian Rutledge and Philip Wright
    421

Index
434