MANAGERIAL COGNITION AND STRATEGIC MANAGEMENT

RETHINKING INTERNATIONALIZATION STRATEGIES

TERESA GARCÍA-MERINO
AND
VALLE SANTOS-ÁLVAREZ
EDITORS

Nova Science Publishers, Inc.
New York
CONTENTS

Introduction ........................................ i
Part One ............................................ 1
Chapter 1 Strategists in Business Society?
Anna Larsson ........................................ 3
Chapter 2 Managerial Cognition in Strategic Behavior
Vanessa Yanes-Estévez, Ana María García-Pérez and
Juan Ramón Oreja-Rodríguez ...................... 25
Chapter 3 A Review of the Contributions of the Cognitive Perspective to Strategic Management Literature
Juan J. Jiménez-Moreno and Francisco J. Sáez-Martínez 47
Part Two .............................................. 73
Chapter 4 Strategic Groups, Cognitive Groups and Environmental Change in the UK Pharmaceutical Industry
Graham Leask ........................................ 75
Chapter 5 Managerial Resources and Strategy: Do the Characteristics of the TMT Shape the Firms’ Strategic Responses?
Alejandro Escribá-Esteve, Esther Sánchez-Peinado
and Luz Sánchez-Peinado......................... 101
Chapter 6 Strategic Decisions and Cognitive Style: A Non-US Perspective
D.T. Ogilvie and Jill R. Hough ...................... 125
Part Three ............................................ 145
Chapter 7 The Role of the Owner-manager in the Internationalization of SMEs: Promoter or Inhibitor?
Karise Hutchinson and Emma McClelland-Fleck 147
Chapter 8 Human Capital of Entrepreneurs, Firm Resources and International Opportunity Perception: The Case of Slovenian
Internationalized SMEs
Mitja Ruzzier ........................................ 163
Chapter 9  Organizational Learning and Internationalization Knowledge: A Comparative Study of Family Firms and Non-family Firms
Sami Basly  183

Conclusion and Future Directions  205
References  209
Short Bios  213
Index  221