CONTENTS

Preface xix

Section I  Section I  Introduction  1

Chapter 1  THE LEADERSHIP POINT OF VIEW  3
Elements of the Leadership Point of View  5
  Seeing What Needs to be Done  5
  Understanding All the Underlying Forces at Play  6
  Having the Courage to Initiate Action to Make Things Better  7
  Conclusions  9

Chapter 2  THE DIAMOND MODEL OF LEADERSHIP IN ORGANIZATIONS  11
  Leading Strategic Change  12
  Key Elements of Leadership  13
    Leader: The Individual  14
    Task: What Should We Do?  14
    Others: Working Together with Followers  15
    Organization: Designing the Right Context  15
  A Diamond in the Rough  16
    Environment: The Context  16
    Results: Outcomes of Leadership  16
  Interelement Relationships are Important  17
    How the Diamond Model Relates to Other Models of Leadership  18
    Basic Definitions  19
  Target Levels of Leadership  22
    Conclusions  23

Chapter 3  LEVELS OF LEADERSHIP  25
  Body, Head, and Heart  27
    Types of VABEs  29
  Connecting the Three Levels to Scholarly Views  30
    Learning Level Three Leadership  31
    Techniques for All Three Levels  31
  Organizational Implications  31
    Conclusions  33
Universality of the Moral Foundation of Level Three Leadership  85
Legal Constraints  88
Conclusions  89

Chapter 7  INNOVATION AND LEVEL THREE LEADERSHIP  91
Techniques for Enhancing Your Creative Thinking  94
Observe Mindfully  94
Consider the Opposite  94
Avoid Deadline Stress  94
Calm Your Mind  95
Always Search for a Better Way  95
Consider the Customer's Experience  95
Stimulate Your Curiosity  96
Use Mind Mapping  96
Heighten Your Senses  96
Fight Killer Phrases  96
Allow Fuzziness  97
Look for Unexpected Connections  97
Look for What's Fun  97
The Four I's  98
Innovate Like Edison  98
Conclusions  99

Chapter 8  PERSONAL, WORKGROUP, AND ORGANIZATIONAL CHARTERS  101
Charters  102
Mission  103
"To Make Money," You Idiot: Causal Mapping  104
Vision  108
Values  110
Walking the Values Talk  110
Strategy  111
Operating Goals  112
Conclusions  113

Section III  Self  117

Chapter 9  SELF-LEADERSHIP  119
The Number One Question in Life  121
Every Organization is Perfectly Designed to Produce the Results it's Producing  122
Chapter 10 A LEADER'S GUIDE TO WHY PEOPLE BEHAVE THE WAY THEY DO 126
Two Legacies 127
The Brain 128
Your Memetic Legacy 129
Reflection 129
Human Beginnings 130
Solidifying the Tendencies 132
Recognizing the Similarities and Differences 133
Motivation 134
The Freedom of Choice 135

Chapter 11 THE REB MODEL 139
Events 140
Perceptions and Observations 141
VABEs 141
Jumping to Conclusions—Carefully 143
Internal Conclusions 144
Emotions and Feelings 145
Visible Behavior 146
An Example 147
Meaning Chains 148
The Reb Model and Leading Change 148
The Self-Concept 149
Defense Mechanisms 150
Implications For Leaders 151
Conclusions 152

Chapter 12 LEADERSHIP AND INTELLIGENCE 154
Not One Intelligence, But Many: Gardner's Research 155
Intelligence Quotient 156
Emotional Quotient 157
Recognizing Your Own Emotions 159
Managing Your Emotions 159
Paying Attention/Concentrating 160
Social Quotient 161
  Recognizing the Emotions of Others 161
  Listening 161
  Empathizing and Caring 162
  Helping Others Manage Their Emotions 162
Change Quotient 163
  Recognizing the Need to Change 164
  Understanding and Mastering the Change Process 164
  Emotional Comfort with Change 164

Conclusions 165

Chapter 13 RESONANCE, LEADERSHIP, AND THE PURPOSE OF LIFE 167

Dreams 169
Internal Dreams 170
Flow and Resonance 171
  Transporting Flow 172
  Re-creating Flow 173
  The Universal Search for Resonance 173
Preparation 174
The Energy Cycle 175
  The Search for Ideas 176
  Managing Your Energy 177
Setbacks, Obstacles, and Alternate Successes 179
  The Paradoxical Obstacle of Success 180
Revisiting the Dream 180

Conclusions 183

Chapter 14 THE GLOBAL BUSINESS LEADER 186

Cultures are Collections of VABEs 187
  The Single Most Destructive Vabe 188
Characteristics of Effective Global Leaders 189
  Overseas Experience 189
  Deep Self-Awareness 189
  Culturally Diverse 190
  Humility 190
  Lifelong Learning and Curiosity 190
  Honesty 191
  Globally Strategic 191
Section IV  Leading Others  195

Chapter 15  POWER AND LEADERSHIP: LEADING OTHERS  197
Sources of Influence and Levels of Leadership  199
Buy-In  200
The Currency of Reciprocity  202
The Role of Trust and Respect  205
General Approach to Influence  206
Purpose  206
Level Three Influence  206
Conclusions  207

Chapter 16  THE HISTORICAL STRENGTH AND MODERN APPEAL OF LEVEL ONE LEADERSHIP  210
Level One Leadership Assumes Consistency Across Individuals  212
Level One Leadership Techniques  213
The De-Energizing Impact of Level One Leadership  214
Conclusions  216

Chapter 17  THE CHALLENGES OF LEVEL TWO LEADERSHIP  218
The Human Brain  219
Formulae and Deductive Reasoning  220
Decision Making  222
Level Two Tools and Techniques  223
The Problem with Level Two Leadership  224
Conclusions  225

Chapter 18  THE FOCUS AND IMPACT OF LEVEL THREE LEADERSHIP  227
Level Three Techniques  229
Techniques for Showing Respect  229
Techniques for Influencing Vabes  230
The Dark Side Potential of Level Three Leadership and Engagement  232
Organizational Implications  233
Applying Level Three Leadership at Both the Individual and Organizational Levels  234
Conclusions  235

Chapter 19  SIX STEPS TO EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP  237
Clarifying Your Center  240
Clarifying Your Center  241
Developing Character: Ends Versus Means  242
Various Forms of Meditation  243
Clarifying What Is Possible  243
Clarifying Mental Images of What Can Be  243
Clarifying What Others Can Contribute  245
Basic Assumptions About Others  245
Identifying the Critical Skills  246
Supporting Others so They Can Contribute  247
Information Age Organizational Structures  248
Empowering Systems Design  249
Being Relentless  250
Life as a Motorboat or a Wood Chip  250
Developing Commitment  251
Measuring and Celebrating Progress  251
Focusing on the Right Measures  252
Focusing on the Glass Half Full  252
Conclusions  253

Chapter 20  THE LANGUAGE OF LEADERSHIP  255
Clarity  256
Stimulating and Memorable  257
Congruent Authenticity  258
Respectful  259
Invitations  259
Rules of the Interpersonal "Dance"  259
Listening  263
Conclusions  263
Chapter 24 LEADING CHANGE 310

A General Model of Change 311
The Role of Outside Help in Managing Change 314

Leading the Change Process 315
  Clarifying Disconfirming Data 315
  Building a Change Team 316
  Designing and Leading Change Experiments 317
  Relentlessly Reinforcing Results with the New Vision 317

Classic and Current Change Models 317

Roles in The Change Process 318

Responses To Change 319
  Dying “Little Deaths” 319
  The Many Faces of Denial 320
  Anger and Bargaining 320
  Transition Through Despair and Grieving 321
  Hope and the Change Process 322

Levels in Change 323
  John Kotter’s Model of Change 323
  The Four P’s 324
  The Mit Model 324
  Prochaska’s Model for Positive Change 325
  Fighting Your Inherent Fears of Changing 326

Conclusions 326

Section VI Conclusion 329

Chapter 25 CONCLUSION 331

Section VII Workbook and Exercises 339

Chapter 26 LEVEL THREE LEADERSHIP WORKBOOK 341
  The Diamond Model of Leadership 342
  The Leadership Point of View 342
  Outside-In Versus Inside-Out: Managing The Fear of Rejection 343
Leadership Levels Assessment  344
  Theory  344
  Scoring Your Responses  345
  Interpreting Your Scores  345
Strategic Challenges  346
Leadership Implications of My Strategic Challenges  347
My Leadership Future  348
Charter for My Organization  349
Charter for My Work Group  350
My Personal Charter  351
Survey of Managerial Style  352
My Personal Leadership Development Goals
  (Keep, Lose, Add)  362
Leadership Intelligence Self-Assessment  363
Managing Your Energy  364
Life's Dream Exercise  367
Balancing Your Life  371
Leadership Language Exercise  378
Systems and Processes in My Organization that Need Redesigning  398
My Personal Model of Change  399
What Do I Want to Do Next?  400
Your Central Point  401

Appendix  402
Bibliography  420
Index  422