Anarchism and Syndicalism in the Colonial and Postcolonial World, 1870–1940

The Praxis of National Liberation, Internationalism, and Social Revolution

Edited by Steven Hirsch
Lucien van der Walt

BRILL
LEIDEN • BOSTON
2010
CONTENTS

List of Illustrations .......................................................... vii
Acknowledgments ................................................................ ix
List of Contributors .......................................................... xi

Preface ................................................................................. xiii

Benedict Anderson

Rethinking Anarchism and Syndicalism: the colonial and postcolonial experience, 1870–1940 ..................................... xxxi

Lucien van der Walt and Steven J. Hirsch

PART ONE
ANARCHISM AND SYNDICALISM IN THE
COLONIAL WORLD

“Diverse in race, religion and nationality...but united in aspirations of civil progress”: the anarchist movement in Egypt 1860–1940 ................................................................. 3

Anthony Gorman

Revolutionary Syndicalism, Communism and the National
Question in South African socialism, 1886–1928 .............. 33

Lucien van der Walt

Korean Anarchism before 1945: a regional and transnational approach ................................................................. 95

Dongyoun Hwang

Anarchism and the Question of Place: thoughts from the Chinese experience ...................................................... 131

Arif Dirlik

The Makhnovist Movement and the National Question in the Ukraine, 1917–1921 ...................................................... 147

Aleksandr Shubin
Syndicalism, Industrial Unionism, and Nationalism in Ireland ........................................................................ 193
Emmet O'Connor

PART TWO
ANARCHISM AND SYNDICALISM IN THE POSTCOLONIAL WORLD

Peruvian Anarcho-Syndicalism: adapting transnational influences and forging counterhegemonic practices, 1905–1930 ......................................................................................................................... 227
Steven J. Hirsch

Tropical Libertarians: anarchist movements and networks in the Caribbean, Southern United States, and Mexico, 1890s–1920s ......................................................................................................................... 273
Kirk Shaffer

Straddling the Nation and the Working World: anarchism and syndicalism on the docks and rivers of Argentina, 1900–1930 ......................................................................................................................... 321
Geoffroy de Laforcade

Constructing Syndicalism and Anarchism Globally: the transnational making of the syndicalist movement in São Paulo, Brazil, 1895–1935 ........................................................................................................ 363
Edilene Toledo and Luigi Biondi

Final Reflections: the vicissitudes of anarchist and syndicalist trajectories, 1940 to the present ........................................................................................................................................... 395
Steven J. Hirsch and Lucien van der Walt

Index ........................................................................................................................................................................ 413